ROLL OF HONOUR.
IN MEMORIAM.

BENSON—In loving remembrance of my dear son, Willie, Private, Royal Irish Rifles, reported missing in the battle of the Somme, 8th July, 1916.

FISHER—In proud and ever-loving memory of Robert Patrick Fisher, Second Lieutenant, King's Shropshire Light Infantry (attached 1-4 Gloucesters), the darling second son of Harry and Edith Fisher, late of Taylor's Hill House, Galway, killed in action at the battle of the Somme, July 9th, 1916, aged 20 years. "In manus tuas, Domine."

GEOGHEGAN—In loving remembrance of Arthur D. Geoghegan, who was killed in Bernafy Wood, on the Somme, 9th July, 1916. "He was a man, take him for all in all, I shall not look upon his like again."

McCONNELL—In proud and loving memory of Sergeant Harry A. McConnell, 3rd Canadians (166th Battalion), who died at Orpington, Kent, July 9th, 1918, as result of wounds received in action.

VALENTINE—In loving memory of Robert Valentine (Bobbie), who was killed in explosion on board H.M.S. Vanguard, 9th July, 1917, aged 18 years.

What though in lonely grief we sigh,
For one beloved, no longer nigh,
Submissive still would we reply,
"Thy will be done."

Inserted by his loving father and sister, 16 Anglesea rd., Donnybrook.

VERNON—In loving memory of William Wood (Billy) Vernon, Second Lieutenant, 4th Connaught Rangers (attached 2nd R.I. Rifles), dearly-beloved son of the late St. George J. Vernon, and Mrs. Vernon, Sandymount, Dublin, killed in action 9th July, 1916, at the battle of the Somme, aged almost 17 years.

SEQUEL IN THE POLICE COURT.

In the Northern Police Court yesterday, before Mr. Lupton, Thos. O'Connor and Christopher Sage were charged on remand with having conducted in Westmoreland street on the evening of 28th June [illegible] the occasion of the rejoicings on the signing of the Peace Treaty.

Mr. J. W. Davis appeared for the police. Mr. Quaid for Bolger, and Mr. Noyk for O'Connor.

Annie Lawrence, 14 Upper Kevin street, was recalled for cross-examination, and replying to Mr. Quaid, denied that she and a girl named Kathleen Murphy, and told her that she saw the man against Bolger and the others [illegible] money from the Crown [illegible] charge against the [illegible] on a charge of stealing a [illegible].

Inspector Barrett, recalled, said he had [illegible] tional evidence to offer [illegible] carrying out of his [illegible] residence, where he [illegible] nothing connected with the charge.

Lieut. Norton, R.A.F., [illegible] posed that between [illegible] encircled by a crowd at the [illegible] of College street. They were pushing him [illegible] road, and told him that [illegible] stood where he was [illegible] him before he entered the [illegible] they proceeded to get out [illegible] Fusilier accompanied them [illegible] again, and witness got a [illegible] the law, and then a violent [illegible] He was not struck by a [illegible] strument. He afterwards [illegible].

Mr. Davis—Do you remember anybody falling on top of you when you were on the ground? I distinctly remember people walking over me or something like that.

In answer to another question witness said he saw the girl Lawrence and a red-haired girl [illegible] of him. They were haranguing him [illegible] to the other side of the road [illegible] home. They appeared to [illegible].

Mrs. Annie Corr, 42 Upper Kevin street, examined by Mr. Quaid, stated that on the night of the peace celebrations she saw Bolger go [illegible] his little daughter at 7.30 p.m. and [illegible].

Mrs. Sarah Summers corroborated.

Kathleen Murphy said the [illegible] by a man wearing a short [illegible]. She did not see either of the men in the [illegible] Westmoreland street. She did not [illegible] who was walking with Lawrence. "Why are you with that Carey?"

Alexander Colohan, a demobilised soldier, examined by Mr. Noyk, swore that Thos. O'Connor played cards in the yard of [illegible] from 7 o'clock till 11.40 on the night of the [illegible].

John Walker, Wm. Smith, John Daly, and [illegible] Byrne, other members of the card party gave similar evidence, and Mrs. Kate [illegible] street, said she brought a [illegible] 11 o'clock.

The accused were returned for trial to the next City Commission, bail of £10 being allowed.

BIRMINGHAM JUNE MEETING.

The Birmingham Stewards, at a meeting at Colwick Park yesterday, disqualified Mingarie, returned as the winner of the Guernsey Stud Produce Stakes at the Birmingham June meeting, and awarded the race to Prince Orb, which was second. It appeared that Mingarie was struck out of the engagement in December, 1917, and the name was left in by inadvertence.

CHANTICLEER'S NOTES.
(SPECIAL TELEGRAM.)

SALISBURY, TUESDAY NIGHT.

The field for the Bibury Cup, which is the most valuable event in to-morrow's programme, will not be of the strength it at one time promised to be. It is understood that De Mestre will be doubly represented, and one of the pair may win, but Chat Tor is well fancied. Avatar, however, will probably win the trophy if he is sent. My selections are:—Juvenile Plate—Hebe. City Plate—Duncan. Bibury Cup—Chat Tor, in the absence of Avatar. Bibury Stakes—Charley's Uncle or Nubian. Hurstbourne Stakes—Long Stop. Pembroke Stakes—Girvan. All Aged Plate—Astafieva.

My selections for Pontefract are:—St. Oswald Plate—Adopted. Yorkshire Handicap—Fawston. Pontefract Plate—Bridgend. West Riding Plate—Spean Bridge filly. Speculation Plate—Star Flower. Castle Plate—Dinah Dear.

SPORTING PARAGRAPHS.

Mr. H. Bottomley is sending several horses to Belgium to compete at the coming meetings.

Mr. A. de Rothschild has given 5,000 francs out of the Grand Prix Stakes to French racing charities.

Jimmy Wilde, who is training at Tylorstown for his forthcoming match with Pal Moore, won a golf handicap the other day, and the same night in the gymnasium followed up his victory on the links by knocking out all his sparring partners.

Sir Edward Hulton intends sending over to the Curragh for the Irish Oaks on the 23rd inst. his One Thousand Guineas winner and Oaks second, Roseway, if she has shaken off, within the next week or so, the effects of having run on the hard ground at Ascot.

The Stewards of the Sandown Park meeting have, with the permission of the Stewards of the Jockey Club, postponed the second day of the Eclipse meeting from July 19th to July 21st. The days of the meeting will, accordingly, be Friday, July 18th, and Monday, July 21st.

Double or Quits, the winner of the London Cup at Alexandra Park on Saturday, has been purchased by Mr. C. Hailey, and will shortly be sent abroad.

The craze for huge and ridiculous purses for boxing has restarted. As already announced, Jack Callaghan is willing to give £35,000 for a contest between Jack Dempsey and the winner of the forthcoming Carpentier-Beckett match. Callaghan, who is said to be acting on behalf of a syndicate, states that he has an option in the use of a hall which will seat 22,000 people.

WAR GRATUITIES.

Large sums of money representing war gratuities earned by soldiers and sailors who lost their lives in the war remain unclaimed. In the Service Men's Bureau of the Weekly Irish Times to-day instructions are given to the next-of-kin of deceased Service men how to secure payment of gratuities.

YACHTING.
THE WAG CLUB.

Postponed from last week, when it fell through for lack of wind, the tenth race of this club brought out seven starters for the re-sail. This number, however, was soon reduced, as Coquette, fouling the starting mark, at once retired, and Wendy, who was recalled for being across too soon, failed to respond, and so put herself out of the race. Madeleine, too, was recalled at the start, but she returned smartly, and got away fairly well with the fleet, and, as events proved, was ultimately first boat home. Sailing the starboard course, the had a beat on the leg between the Coal Harbour Mark and the Hauling Buoy in a light north-easterly breeze, and it was here on the second round that Madeleine worked out a lead. Earlier, Vela and Barbara had been the leading pair, but working to windward they were beaten by Madeleine, and from this to the finish the latter was always well in front. On the handicap, however, Mollie, which finished second, took first club prize. The finish was:—

		H.	M.	S.
Madeleine (2nd prize) (9 mins.)	Mr. J. Starkey	8	19	24
Mollie (1st prize) (12 mins.)	Dr. G. P. Meldon	8	21	48
Barbara (3rd prize) (10 mins.)	Dr. J. T. Wigham	8	23	1
Vela (11 mins.)	Messrs. Irwin and Geoghegan	8	24	18
Phyllis (9 mins.)	Mr. G. A. Newsom	8	32	10

THE CLYDE FORTNIGHT.

Racing in the Clyde yachting fortnight was continued yesterday by the Royal Gourock Club from their clubhouse in Ashton Bay. The weather conditions were an improvement on those of the two previous days, but there were still a good deal of flukey airs from the north-east prevalent in the early part of the day, and later a south-westerly breeze sprang up, but was rather of a partial character. There was no match for the big yachts. Details:—

Handicap Match for yachts not over 35 tons. Course, 10 miles. Start, 11.10.—Minoru (Robert Gilmour), scratch; Ptarmigan (Sir Thomas Dunlop), scratch; Iota (A. E. Nicholson), 5 mins. The finish was:—Ptarmigan (winner), 4 hrs. 50 mins. 36 secs.; Minoru, 4 hrs. 55 mins. 49 secs.; Iota (second prize), 4 hrs. 58 mins. 57 secs.

Belfast Lough yawls raced in their class, but the match showed many changes through wind vagaries. Result:—Nasnagh (winner), 5 hrs. 6 mins. 30 secs.; Frala (second prize), 5 hrs. 8 mins. 10 secs.; Valla (third prize), 5 hrs. 9 mins. 25 secs.; Friska, 5 hrs. 9 mins. 50 secs.; Eviza, 5 hrs. 11 mins. 15 secs.; Tory, 5 hrs. 15 mins. 30 secs.

In the second handicap Thetis clean beat her opponent, and other winners in their classes were Stella, Arethusa, Estrilla, and Amasis.

THE WATER WAGS.

The annual Crews' Race will be sailed this evening, round the usual course. The "Shoe" Prize, which was won early in the season by Mr. G. H. Jones, has been presented by him as a special prize for this evening's race. Start at 6.30. Officer of the day—Mr. H. R. Newland.

GOLF.

MALAHIDE.—Challenge Cup, Saturday, 12th inst., against bogey; post entries.

CLONTARF (LADIES).—Result of competition for Major Healy's prize:—Mrs. Dunseith (26), 79 nett; Mrs. Carley (14), 80; Mrs. Byrne (10), 83; Mrs. Montgomery (17), 83; Mrs. O. Bailey (23), 83. July 9th—Wednesday—Monthly medal, bogey.

GREYSTONES.—The monthly medals were played for on Saturday. Result:—Class I.—M. Hubbard (10), 70; H. K. West (scr.), 75; C. Dickenson (10), 77; H. N. Walker (4), 81; H. B. Figgis (11), 83. Class II.—Captain F. C. Moore (18), 75; W. N. Megaw (14), 84. The final of the Residents' Cup was played on Monday. Details:—First round—M. Hubbard beat F. P. Lynch, 2 and 1; H. K. West beat E. T. Richards, 2 and 1; Captain C. H. West beat H. N. Walker, 3 and 2; M. Hewson beat J. L. Brown, 5 and 4. Second round—H. K. West beat M. Hubbard, 2 and 1; Capt. C. H. West beat M. Hewson, 3 and 2. Final—H. K. West beat Captain C. H. West, 2 up. The McFarland Prize for lady associates will be played on July 10th, by strokes, 18 holes, under handicap. Two special prizes have been presented.

PORTMARNOCK.—The May Monthly Cup will be played for to-day, and the Presentation Cup on Saturday.

MILLTOWN.—To-day—Qualifying round, 18 holes, strokes, for Scratch Cup presented by some officers of H.M. Forces stationed in Dublin district, 1918. Draws every half-hour from 10 till 6 o'clock. Ladies.—July medals.—Class I.—Mrs. G. L. O'Connor (rec. 6), 1 up; Mrs. Phillipson (rec. 8), all square. Class II.—Miss Costello (rec. 12), 2 down; Mrs. Hume (rec. 14), 4 down; Mrs. S. D. Lambert (rec. 16), 4 down. To-morrow—Club Foursomes, match play. Draw at 11.30 a.m.

CASTLE.—Bailey Cup. The following qualified—Dr. W. Hooper (8), 75, best nett; E. Comerford (15), 76; R. Harrison (16), 77; R. Wayland (8), 78; A. Matthews (3), 78; T. Cummings (20), 79; G. Butler (14), 79; J. Boate (12), 80; J. Thompson (17), 80; P. Sinclair (12), 80; H. Randel (10), 80; E. Jeffares (8), 81; T. McFadzean (12), 82; W. J. Abbott (10), 82; A. Dudley (4), 83; W. Fitzsimmons (11), 84. The draw:—Sinclair v. Randel; Dudley v. Hooper; G. Comerford v. Cummings; Fitzsimmons v. Matthews; Wayland v. Harrison; Boate v. Jeffares; Butler v. McFadzean; Thompson v. Abbott.

LAWN TENNIS.
THE IRISH CHAMPIONSHIPS.

The Irish Championships, which up to the outbreak of war formed a pleasant event in the social life of Dublin, will be renewed this year at the Fitzwilliam Club grounds, opening on Monday, 14th inst., and continuing until the following Saturday. The All-Comers Championships should prove particularly attractive, as, in addition to many prominent Irish players, Mr. Hugh Neilson, the Scotch champion, and Miss Ryan, who played such a fine game at Wimbledon, have entered. It will be seen from our advertisement column that there are in all 10 events, which include not only the championships, but also the usual handicap events. Competitors are reminded that entries close with the Secretary at 6 o'clock next Saturday.

ALL ENGLAND CHAMPIONSHIP FINALS.

The championship meeting came to an end at Wimbledon yesterday, when the King and Queen were interested spectators. The final of the doubles, the chief event of the day's programme, resulted in R. V. Thomas and Capt. P. O'Hara-Wood defeating R. Lycett and Major R. W. Heath. Thomas and Wood, who played fine, vigorous tennis, were always on top in the first two sets. A. D. Prebble and Mrs. Lambert Chambers, though playing well, failed to win a single game from Lycett and Miss Ryan in the mixed doubles final. Mlle. Lenglen followed up her success in the ladies' singles last week by winning the ladies' doubles with Miss Ryan against Mrs. Larcombe and Mrs. Lambert Chambers. Results:—

Doubles Championship (final and championship round)—R. V. Thomas and Capt. P. O'Hara-Wood beat R. Lycett and Major R. W. Heath—6-4, 6-2, 4-6, 6-2.

Mixed Doubles Championship (final and championship round)—R. Lycett and Miss Ryan beat A. D. Prebble and Mrs. Lambert Chambers—6-0, 6-0.

Ladies' Doubles Championship (final and championship round)—Mlle. Lenglen and Miss Ryan beat Mrs. Larcombe and Mrs. Lambert Chambers—4-6, 7-5, 6-3.

All England Plate (final round)—F. R. L. Crawford beat Max Woosnam—6-3, 5-7, 7-5.

SWIMMING.

PEMBROKE.—This club decided their Senior and Junior Championships at 100 yards at Blackrock Baths last evening. 100 Yards Club Championship.—Result—J. Beckett, 1; O. Armstrong, 2; G. E. Strahan, 3. Also competed—J. V. Bateman, H. F. Case. Time—69 3-5 secs. 100 Yards Junior Championship.—Result—N. Mather, 1; F. Dowling, 2; W. Jewell, 3. Also competed—H. Case, junior. Time—86 secs.

LEINSTER WATER POLO LEAGUE.—The matches fixed for this evening at Blackrock have been postponed, as the baths will be closed during the afternoon.

DUBLIN S.C., 4 goals; PEMBROKE S.C., 4 goals.—The meeting of these clubs at Blackrock produced a close and exciting game. Pembroke started well, and Wallace scored early, and repeated the performance soon afterwards, but before the interval a penalty against Pembroke enabled Evans to score. In the second half, however, Pembroke in turn were awarded a penalty, and Armstrong shot through, and with Meldon scoring twice for Dublin, and Swain once, while Armstrong added yet another for Pembroke, the game ended in a draw.

DUBLIN UNIVERSITY.—The following will represent the University in the Junior League water polo match against Dublin at Blackrock Baths this evening at 6.30:—J. E. McCormick (capt.), J. R. Hanna, L. Whitfield, E. E. Benson, W. Lord-Flood, J. L. Stewart, V. O. McCormick. Substitutes—C. Wilson, E. R. Murray.

The Irish Times.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 9, 1919.

The Allied reply to the long Austrian Note requesting admission to the League of Nations as an original member has now been handed to the Austrian delegates. It states that, as soon as Austria has a responsible and representative Government, capable of fulfilling the obligations of the League, the Allies see no reason why she should not apply for admission, and that such application will be supported by them.

Sir David Beatty and Sir Douglas Haig were yesterday presented with the freedom of the City of Newcastle-on-Tyne.

At the sitting of the War Pensions Committee in London yesterday interesting evidence was given by Mr. W. G. Fallon, Secretary of the City of Dublin War Pensions Committee, with reference to the conditions regarding ex-Service men in Ireland.

The remains of Captain Fryatt were borne in procession yesterday through London to St. Paul's, where a Service was held before they were removed by rail for interment at his native place.

At the annual Conference of the Federation of Grocers' Associations of the United Kingdom in Liverpool yesterday the President (Mr. E. R. Thompson) strongly urged the abandonment by the Ministry of Food of the policy of controlling retail prices while allowing entire freedom to those through whose hands the retailers' supplies passed, thus depriving the retailers, he said, of all profit upon several important articles.

During the consideration of the Irish Housing Bill in Committee yesterday, the Chief Secretary announced that a new Local Government Board Housing Committee of Experts would be appointed, and would be given a free hand in dealing with the question.

The Ways and Communications Bill was further amended in the House of Commons yesterday, and the report stage was passed.

During the consideration of the Finance Bill in the House of Commons yesterday, an attempt was made to reduce or to sweep away altogether the duty on tea, but the motion was negatived by a large majority.

Speaking at Morriston yesterday in support of the Labour candidate for Swansea East by-election, Mr. Smillie described the Coalition Government as a combination of profiteers, capitalists, and landlords.

Eleven members of the Women's Royal Air Force who were ill-treated in Dublin on Peace Night by crowds of men are claiming £20 each compensation under the new Malicious Injuries Act.

For the purpose of carrying out the Proclamation suppressing Sinn Fein and kindred associations in the County Tipperary, additional police and military forces have been sent into the county.

In London yesterday the Stock Markets were quiet, and business on a small scale. Oil Shares were again active, with leaders well to the front, and there was a welcome recovery in the Marconi group. Money was not quite so plentiful in the Loan market, and the rate seldom fell beneath 2½ per cent. The tendency of discount rates remained easy. The rate for New York Cable transfers was 4.49⅞ to 4.49¼. In Dublin business was on a fairly good scale, the features being an improvement in Marconi issues and strength in Coats.

Discharged Soldiers.

The public—here and in Great Britain—is getting bewildered about the case of the discharged soldiers. On the one side we have the fact that the State is sincerely anxious to help these men, and has voted big sums for the purpose. On the other side is the fact that large numbers of the discharged men are still out of employment and are beginning to labour under a lively sense of injustice. When a man leaves the Army his first job is the getting of a pension for himself and (if he has been disabled) for his dependents. His next job is the finding of civilian employment. Sir Douglas Haig's generous protest was one of many proofs that the machinery of the War Pensions Department is in urgent need of improvement. Mr. Fallon's evidence before the Committee in London yesterday shows that its cumbrousness and tardiness inflict sore hardship on many gallant men, and their families, in the City of Dublin. The grant of pensions is delayed, and, in some cases, repeated application for them is ignored. The Dublin Committee has no means of exchanging views with other local Committees. The results are confusion, heart-burning, and disappointment. Obviously, the whole system must be reorganised and "speeded up" without further delay, if the State is to keep its promises to the men who have fought and bled for it. Reform is needed not less urgently in the matter of getting work for discharged soldiers. In Ireland schemes for this purpose continue to multiply, but the men's discontent continues to grow. It is announced to-day that the Lord Lieutenant has appointed a Committee to help ex-soldiers in all cases of hardship and to find employment for them. Its chairman is Mr. Edward White, who has done yeoman's service for Irish soldiers during and after the war. We think that we cannot better assist this new Committee than by asking the Irish Government for a clear statement of its considered policy—for it must have a considered policy—in the whole matter.

In the first place, the Government would help both the general public and the ex-soldier by announcing the names and functions of the bodies which are now working in Ireland for the benefit of discharged men and the degree of co-operation (if any) which exists between them. The men complain that they are being sent "from pillar to post," and that no department seems to be in close touch with any other department. In the next place, the Government should publish the total amount of the funds at its disposal for the helping of discharged men, and should give an account of its expenditure from these funds up to the present time. In the third place, it should state the means by which it proposes to find work for the discharged men. Some time ago the Irish Government got £250,000 from the Treasury for the purpose of assisting the re-absorption of demobilised soldiers into civil life. What has been done, so far, with this money; and to what extent will the functions of the departments which have administered it be transferred to the new Committee? Has the Executive decided to give all vacant posts in Government departments to discharged men at reasonable rates of pay? Mr. Fallon said yesterday that such men had refused to take Government work at less than 40s. a week, and their self-respect in the matter has our entire approval. Has the new Committee definite plans for the putting of discharged men into employment? Its two purposes are assistance in cases of hardship and "the re-establishment of ex-service men in civil life." Relief of hardship by direct grants does not seem to require the services of a new organisation: that relief could be given, as hitherto, through some such admirable body as the Soldiers' and Sailors' Help Society. In any case, it is not gifts of money, but work, that the discharged men demand. We are most anxious to be assured that the new Committee and its kindred agencies have some definite and promising scheme for giving a decent job to every discharged man who requires it.

The announcement of such a scheme would do much to allay the discharged men's increasing discontent and to promote public interest in the new Committee's task. It seems to us, however, that before the promise can be given with good hope of fulfilment three things must be done. The whole machinery of assistance must be simplified and co-ordinated in order that waste, over-lapping, and confusion may be avoided. The granting of doles must be separated sharply from the finding of work. Work, which does not exist now, must be created. We think that the new Committee will agree with us that its prospects of success depend mainly on the Government's policy of reconstruction in Ireland. If substantial schemes of housing are started without delay, and if an Irish Director is given a free hand under the Ways and Communications Act, work in abundance ought to be forthcoming for discharged Irish soldiers. Legislation is promised by which men employed on Government contracts must include a fixed proportion of disabled soldiers, and, of course, that legislation will be made applicable to Ireland. The Irish Government must proceed swiftly and resolutely with its plans for the putting of discharged soldiers on the land. If these things are done, the problem will be solved in the near future and the State will have fulfilled its duty to many thousands of gallant Irishmen. Our point is that the problem can be solved only by the creation of work, and that the Irish Government must direct all its efforts to that end. Its eager championship must counteract the apathy and direct hostility of a large section of the Irish people towards the demobilised men. Until the work has been created severe limits will be imposed on the usefulness of official committees, however single-minded and enthusiastic.

The Housing Bill.

After a week's delay the deadlock in connection with the Irish Housing Bill has been removed, and yesterday good progress was made with the Committee stage. The original proposal of the Treasury—to meet the difference between the "economic" rent and the "reasonable" rent of a house by contributing £1 for every £1 collected from the tenant—was attractive, but it did not go far enough. Local authorities believed that its operation might involve serious burdens on the rates, and adduced sound arguments in support of this view. The Irish members pressed for more generous terms. Some of them urged the desirability of adopting the English system under which the local authority's financial responsibility is restricted to the amount realised by a penny rate. Obviously, however, that system is not suited to Irish conditions. In many small towns the proceeds of a penny rate are almost negligible, and the Treasury could not be expected to bear the entire cost of housing schemes. Mr. Macpherson undertook to consult the Treasury, and, as a result of negotiations, he was able to announce that in "exceptional" cases the State subsidy would be increased to 25s. That was a step in the right direction, but it was not sufficient to meet the demand that local authorities should be indemnified against all loss in connection with their schemes. Finally, the Chief Secretary was able to secure an undertaking that the Treasury will contribute 25s. for every £1 of rent collected, and that in circumstances which are deemed "exceptional" an additional 2s. 6d. will be paid. These terms are eminently satisfactory. Throughout the negotiations Mr. Macpherson's position has been difficult. On the one hand, he was anxious to safeguard his Bill and to satisfy the Irish members; on the other, he had to overcome very strenuous opposition at the Treasury. His success, we believe, will be not less a source of satisfaction to himself than to the Irish local authorities and to the little band of Unionists and Nationalists who fought their case with so much determination. It is a matter for regret that the Government could not see its way to make the Bill retrospective to 1914. When the second reading was taken Mr. Samuels hinted that this might be done. At yesterday's meeting of the Committee, however, Mr. Macpherson refused to accept an amendment to that effect. It was pointed out that only four local authorities—Dublin, Blackrock, Waterford, and Pembroke—embarked on building schemes during the war, and that an annual expenditure of about £6,000 by the Treasury would save them from loss. Mr. Macpherson announced the appointment of a special Committee of the Local Government Board, of which Mr. P. C. Cowan will be Chairman, to superintend operations under the Bill.

The Farmers' Opportunity.

On Saturday the period for subscription to the Victory Loan will come to an end. In order that Ireland's contribution to this great financial effort may be worthy of her traditions, it is essential that the farmers shall do their share. The huge deposits in Irish banks at present are owned chiefly by the farming classes. Farmers are generally suspicious of tempting investments, and prefer to deposit their savings at a low rate of interest, so that they can have the use of their money at any time. Capital invested in Victory Loan, however, will be just as fluid as if it were on deposit. The banks will always advance cash on Victory Loan scrip as quickly and as willingly as they will redeem a farmer's cheque. Any farmer will discover, if he consults his bank manager, that investment in the Victory Loan will greatly improve his financial position, and, at the same time, enable him to employ his money for whatever purpose he may choose. Irish farmers have plenty of money, but they always can find use for some more. The difference between 2½ and 5 per cent. should be sufficiently great to cause an eager rush on the banks during the next few days. At present Irish bank deposits amount to £131,610,000. At 2½ per cent. this sum yields £3,290,250 in annual dividends. If the total bank deposits were converted into Victory Loan, the annual dividends would amount to £6,580,500, and Ireland would be the richer by more than 3¼ million pounds per annum.

Exit, the Elephant.

The Provincial Council of the Cape of Good Hope has authorised the destruction of the herd of elephants in the Addo Bush Forest Reserve. These hundred elephants are almost the "last of that giant race" in South Africa. The sole remaining scion of the Zululand stock was recently killed at a ripe old age; Southern Rhodesia has banished the elephant from its inhospitable soil; and only a few lonely survivors prowl in the forests of the Eastern Transvaal. The Addo Bush Colony has been interfering with the advance of science. A space of six thousand acres has been set apart for its exclusive use; but its members seem to be of a wandering disposition and given to predatory excursions from their safe retreat. Settlers have established themselves all round the elephants' compound. They have built fences, raised crops, bred cattle, and dug irrigation canals. One of the elephants' favourite amusements is bathing. This habit, although in itself laudable, is apt to become a nuisance when elephants mistake carefully constructed irrigation canals for baths. Every sympathetic person will be sorry to learn that the South African elephants are about to be exterminated. Some day, it is to be feared, the whole breed will join the dodo and the ichthyosaurus in the animals' happy hunting ground, and our degenerate planet will know them no more.

DUBLIN UNIVERSITY ELECTION.

We are informed that Sir Lynden Macassey, K.C., K.B.E., D.Sc., having given careful consideration to the request of an influential body of electors that he should stand for the vacant seat in Dublin University, has decided that he will not invite a contest on the present occasion, and has notified his supporters to that effect. The only candidate, therefore, who is now in the field is Mr. William Jellett, K.C.

THE LATE CAPTAIN FRYATT.

THE REMAINS ARRIVE IN LONDON.

SERVICE AT ST. PAUL'S.

Captain Fryatt's remains (says a Press Association telegram) reached London yesterday on their way to burial in the land he loved and for which he gave his life. The arrangements at Charing Cross Station, where the train conveying the coffin arrived from Dover about 11 o'clock, were all in keeping with the solemnity of the occasion, and a distinguished company were on the platform.

The procession from the railway station was led by 100 bluejackets from Dover, and the band of the Royal Marine Light Infantry from Dover. Next came a gun carriage with the coffin, covered with the Union Jack, whereon reposed a single wreath, sent by Princess Louise, Duchess of Argyll.

Eight captains of the Great Eastern Railway steamers were the pall-bearers, and they walked beside the gun-carriage. Immediately behind were Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Fryatt, brother and sister-in-law of the heroic captain. Mr. Fryatt carried the Order of Leopold, conferred by the King of the Belgians upon his deceased brother after the Service at Antwerp last Sunday, and entrusted to him for delivery to Captain Fryatt's widow. The chief railway officials followed, and amongst those in the carriages behind were War Office, Admiralty, and Board of Trade representatives, members of the Anglo-Belgian Union, and the Mayors of Dover and Harwich.

St. Paul's Cathedral was thronged, and the Service was impressive in its beauty. The hymns were "Eternal Father" and "Abide with me." The Dead March was rendered before the Bishop of London pronounced the Benediction, and Chopin's Marche Funèbre after the Blessing.

Large crowds witnessed the departure of the remains for Liverpool street, whence they will go to Dovercourt for burial.

LONDON CORRESPONDENCE.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
TUESDAY NIGHT.

In the House of Commons to-day Mr. Harmsworth was bombarded with questions regarding the representation of British interests at the capitals of the various new States, and in reply announced several such appointments. A question by Colonel Arthur Murray relating to the British mission to Poland appeared twice on the Order Paper. When the gallant member pointed out the redundancy, the Speaker at first attributed it to the printer, but later on threw the blame on Colonel Murray himself, who had sent in his question twice over.

A suggestion that a special ribbon should be awarded to officers and men who have been mentioned in despatches was rejected by Mr. Churchill, who said that a special certificate would be issued in such cases. When it was pointed out that a certificate did not meet the case, since it was not seen by the general public, he promised to look into the matter again with a view to seeing whether the French plan of appending "palms" to the ordinary war-ribbon could be adopted.

Attention was drawn to the claim of the United States Government that American shipping now represents a larger proportion than British of the total tonnage afloat. Colonel Leslie Wilson, however, for the Shipping Controller, stated that the latest figures available showed that Britain still retained a slight preponderance. He was also asked why British shipping freights were still controlled, while foreign owners were making enormous profits, and in reply stated that he was quite aware of the fact, but that, provided British owners made a moderate profit, the interest of the consumer must come first.

July 12th is, and will remain, the last day for subscribing to the Victory Loan. Mr. Chamberlain said that he had given careful consideration to the proposal that the lists should be kept open a little longer, but had decided that it would not be advisable to do so.

Sir Robert Horne has been busy preparing plans for the employment of disabled soldiers and sailors, and these are now nearly complete, and will be issued shortly. They have been submitted to conferences of the trade unions, and met with a welcome. Provision is made for the employment of five per cent. of disabled men in every industry, and the employers agreeing to this will have the right to use a special badge on their stationery. A Bill will be introduced into the House making the employment of the five per cent. a condition of Government contracts.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer announced to-day that officers with gratuities due to them may invest the amount at once in the Victory Loan by arrangement with their bankers or agents. This is an excellent step so far as it goes, but there are many thousands of ex-officers who would be only too glad to get the gratuities owing to them in many cases for months past. The withholding of these gratuities is giving rise to grave dissatisfaction. A few days ago a meeting of ex-officers was held in the City of London attended by some hundreds. The course of action advocated by some of these men was one inclining to violence, but the hotheads were dissuaded, and a wiser policy adopted. When it is recalled that every one of these ex-officers moves in a circle of more or less intelligent people, it is easy to see that their agitation is certain to have a bad effect.

The scenes attending the funeral ceremony in honour of the late Captain Fryatt to-day were extremely simple, but impressive to a degree. Great crowds gathered along the route of the procession from Charing Cross to St. Paul's and waited patiently under the victory flags flying half-masted until the cortège passed to the sound of funeral music. At the Cathedral a great congregation had assembled; including a naval officer to represent the King, the Lord Mayor, and many other well-known people. The Service was taken by the Bishop of London, whose scarlet rochet was, except for the many wreaths, the only touch of colour to be seen. Captain Fryatt was a worthy representative of the great mercantile marine, and the nation to-day, in honouring him, recognises the debt it owes to the brave men who "carried on" through all the perils of the intensive submarine campaign. It is, perhaps, a stroke of poetic justice that it is announced to-day that Admiral von Tirpitz is "wanted" by the Allies for his share in that campaign.

The decision of the Government Committee on peace celebrations that the great naval and military procession on Peace Day shall take a new route, will probably cause some little heartburning in the City of London, where it is looked upon as a prerogative that all such processions should pass through its boundaries. Otherwise, there is nothing to be said against the new route. It passes through the West End and through the nearest portion of London to the centre inhabited by purely working-class people. It will give many of these people a chance of making a little money by letting their windows for the occasion, if they so desire.

Contrary to expectation, some of the German naval ships at Scapa Flow are being raised, and it is said that quite a number will be rescued and restored to service. Should this prove to be correct, the Peace Conference will have to decide what shall become of them. Several of the vessels have turned turtle under the water, and it will be almost impossible to salve them, but a number of the smaller ships and two cruisers are already floated.

The first of the two exhibitions of war memorials to the fallen, which are being organised under the auspices of the Royal Academy War Memorials Committee, was opened to the general public at the Victoria and Albert Museum, South Kensington, to-day. These exhibitions are being designed, not with the purpose of supplying material which might actually serve as memorials, but in order to provide suggestions which may be of assistance to artists and the public who are interested in their promotion or execution. The exhibition in the Museum is arranged in two sections. In the East Hall are grouped objects, designs, and photographs, chosen from the Museum collections, which may be regarded as offering suitable suggestions. In the West Hall will be found designs and models for memorials, which have either recently been executed by living artists, or are now in hand.

A deputation of Irish Unionist members waited on the Chief Secretary to-day to ask him to use his influence with the Government for the promotion of legislation to legalise the codicil of the late Sir Hugh Lane's will—which codicil revoked the bequest of his pictures now in the National Gallery to England, and gave them to Dublin. The codicil, however, though duly signed by the testator, was not duly witnessed, though it is believed fully to express his wish. The deputation, introduced by Captain C. Craig, was composed of Sir Maurice Dockrell, Major O'Neill, and Mr. McGuffin. Mr. Macpherson listened very sympathetically to the representations made to him, and promised that they should receive the most careful consideration.

THE POSSESSION OF A GUN.

James Barry, civilian, of Geragh, Co. Cork, was tried by District Courtmartial at Cork, on 17th June, 1919, on a charge under the Defence of the Realm Regulations, of being in possession of a shot-gun without a permit. The accused admitted possession, but said that he was under the belief that he was entitled to keep a gun for use within the boundary of his own farm. The Court found him guilty, and sentenced him to seven days' imprisonment, without hard labour, but recommended him to mercy. The whole of the sentence was remitted by the G.O.C.-in-Chief, Ireland, and the accused was released on the 19th June.

SINN FEIN IN TIPPERARY.

THE FEAR OF MARTIAL LAW.

MILITARY AND POLICE FORCES AUGMENTED.

(FROM OUR REPORTER.)

THURLES, TUESDAY NIGHT.

Little surprise was caused in the County Tipperary by the suppression of the Sinn Fein organisations and the Gaelic League. Ever since District Inspector Hunt was foully murdered on the Square of Thurles there was a general apprehension that martial law and its attendant rigours would be fully enforced in that town and district, and business people in Thurles and other centres did not want to find themselves in the same plight as their near neighbours who have had a painful experience of the effects of martial law upon their trade. The stoppage of fairs and markets would mean a serious loss to the townspeople, most of whom are shrewd, sensible folk, with a keen eye to business, and the same remark applies generally in the county. The new proclamations limiting safeguards to the prohibition and suppression of "dangerous" organisations were, therefore, for the most part, received with a feeling akin to relief. Martial law has been averted so far, and it now lies with the people themselves to see that its imposition is finally staved off.

Ample measures have been taken by the authorities to carry out to the letter the terms of the proclamation. Police and military reinforcements have been drafted into the county, and have been posted at various points throughout the North and South Ridings.

It is yet too soon to learn how the significance of the proclamations has been accepted by the Sinn Fein element. Responsible people are hopeful that nothing will occur to cause the intervention of the forces of the Crown.

All Sinn Fein and Gaelic League fixtures will, of course, be banned, but sporting events such as race meetings, football and hurling matches will be permitted to be held. The authorities have expressed a desire not to interfere with legitimate sport, or with the ordinary peaceful pursuits of the people.

When asked by a Press representative to-day if he had any statement to make, Archbishop Harty stated that he had nothing to say at present.

THE CLARE SHOOTING OUTRAGE.

DARING NATURE OF THE ATTACK.

CONDITION OF THE INJURED CONSTABLES.

Constable Henehan and Constable O'Connor, who were fired upon and injured at Kilfenora, Co. Clare, on Sunday, remain in Ennistymon Union Hospital, under the care of Dr. D. J. Keane. They are progressing very well, though they cannot yet be pronounced out of danger. Constable Henehan is the more seriously injured of the two. He received about 100 shot pellets on the upper part of the right hip, many penetrating to the pelvic bone, and as a consequence he lost a considerable amount of blood. Many of the pellets fortunately struck the thick leather belt which he was wearing. He is naturally very weak from loss of blood. Constable O'Connor received about forty pellets in the right arm.

It appears that the outrage occurred about midnight, and at the time the constables were on protection patrol about a mile and a half from the village of Kilfenora, in the direction of Kilshanny. In this locality there is a farm which has been protected for a considerable time owing to a number of outrages which have been committed over it. They had reached the turn in the road when a voice suddenly cried out "Hands up," and immediately a shot rang out, which appears to have been that which struck Constable Henehan. It was immediately followed by a second shot, which struck Constable O'Connor, who had flung his right hand back for his revolver. Only one man was seen, and he did not seem to have been disguised. The constables say that they could not recognise his features. Henehan had fallen at once, dropping his carbine, and O'Connor also fell. When they had recovered from the shock it was found that the former's carbine had disappeared, and must have been taken by one of the concealed men. The constables state that the shots were fired at very short distance—about seven yards—which makes their escape from instant death all the more marvellous.

TWO MEN ARRESTED.

Yesterday morning two men named Austin Geraghty and Peter J. O'Loghlen, from the Doolin district, were arrested by police and military, and brought to Ennis, and thence to Limerick.

ALLEGED INCITEMENT TO CRIME.

EVIDENCE IN CORK COURT-MARTIAL.

EXTRACTS FROM IRISH VOLUNTEER PAPER.

A District Courtmartial, over which Major Chapman, D.S.O., presided, assembled at Victoria Barracks, Cork, yesterday, for the trial of Patrick O'Halloran, Scallaheen, Co. Tipperary, who was charged with having in his possession on the 16th June a seditious document—viz., a copy of the official organ of the Irish Volunteers.

Accused made the usual objection to the Court, and a plea of not guilty was entered.

Captain Gover, who prosecuted, drew the attention of the Court to two extracts from the document. The first was: "Irish Volunteers have considered themselves and acted as the soldiers of the Irish Republic engaged in open warfare with the forces of the foreign usurpation. The whole Irish people have now formally and officially endorsed this attitude." The second extract was: "We are still, so to speak, 'in the trenches,' but our 'trench raids' and active operations against the enemy are growing more and more frequent, and are usually attended with brilliant success. A number of dashing achievements in recent times stand to the credit of the Irish Volunteers—indeed, hardly a day passes without some daring and successful raid on the soldiers or police of the enemy, who have been deprived of their weapons." Continuing, Captain Gover said that it was common knowledge that policemen had been murdered in this country within recent times. It was also common knowledge that many daring raids had been made on the forces of the Crown, and he submitted that the extracts referred to amounted to an encouragement of those parties to go on committing outrages of this description, and, if the charges were proved, he would ask the Court to take a very serious view of them.

Sergeant James Palmer, R.I.C., Tipperary, deposed to going, with a search party of military and police, to the house of accused's father at Scallaheen, and finding in accused's pocket a copy of the official organ of the Irish Volunteers dated 15th May, 1919. He asked the accused where he got it, and he said that he found it on the road.

The Court closed and the finding will be promulgated.

GAELIC FOOTBALLERS' ATTACK ON THE POLICE.

CONSTABLE'S ACCOUNT OF THE ASSAULT.

A sequel to the attack on Constables Doggett and Kearney, of Camlough, on Sunday night at O'Hanlon's Cross-roads, when they were returning from Crossmaglen along with a party of Gaelic footballers from the village, took place on Monday afternoon in the Camlough Police Barracks, when four young men, named Michael Byrne, Camlough; Patrick Osborne, 51 Gibson street, Belfast; Owen McCreesh, Eshwary, and Patrick McShane, Cross, were charged in custody, before Mr. J. Harland, J.P., at the instance of District Inspector Davis, with having unlawfully and feloniously done grievous bodily harm to Constable John Doggett by striking him with a stone and kicking and boxing him, and at the same time and place assaulting Constable Nicholas J. Kearney.

Constable Doggett, who bore evidence of the rough treatment which he had received, deposed that on the Sunday in question he was on duty, along with Constable Kearney, at Crossmaglen in connection with a Gaelic football match that was played there. They accompanied the team on their bicycles from Camlough. On returning after 11 o'clock there was a scuffle among the members of the team on the road at O'Hanlon's Cross. He went towards them to see what it was about, when Owen McCreesh hit him a box on the forehead with his fist. Four or five men then rushed at him, and he was knocked down by the blow of a fist. Osborne then came over and kicked him when he was down, and Byrne threw a large stone on him weighing about three-quarters of a stone. He also got a wound on the top of his head when he fell on the road. He was helped up by some people who came along. Both his own and Constable Kearney's bicycles were broken. He did not know how this happened, and he had to be assisted to walk five or six miles to the barracks. McShane urged the crowd to beat him, but he did not strike him himself. Since the assault he had been attended by Captain Scott, M.B.

Mr. Collins, solicitor for the defence, reserved his cross-examination, and on his application the accused were allowed out on bail—themselves in £100, with two sureties of £50 each—to appear at Forkhill Petty Sessions on the 12th August.

GROCERS AND FOOD CONTROL.

RETAILERS' STRONG PROTEST.

ALLEGED LOSSES ON BACON AND CHEESE.

LORD LEVERHULME AND THE INDUSTRIAL PROBLEM.

The twenty-ninth (Victory) Conference of the Federation of Grocers' Associations of the United Kingdom was opened yesterday at Liverpool. Over 600 delegates attended.

Councillor H. S. Adams (Hanley), in vacating the chair as President of the Federation, urged the need for unity. They had been told, he said, by the Ministry of Labour that they were not sufficiently organised. Yet they were the largest body of traders banded together for the protection of their trade, which had stood by the Government through all their troubles and anxieties, and had never kicked over the traces, though they had been more roughly handled by incompetent cranks than any other trade in the country. (Hear, hear.)

THE PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS.

Mr. E. R. Thompson (Liverpool) was elected President of the Federation for the ensuing year. In his inaugural address, he said that if they were to aspire to better conditions for those engaged in the trade, it must necessarily be conducted on business lines. The first essential of that was an adequate trading profit. It, therefore, he continued, becomes our first duty to press to secure the abandonment by the Ministry of Food of the iniquitous policy of controlling retail prices, whilst allowing entire freedom to those through whose hands our supplies pass, and which has been unaccountably persisted in despite our strenuous representations that retailers were thus deprived of all profit upon several of the most important articles which had experienced a rising market. I have yet to meet a grocer who is desirous that the cost to the consumer of any of these articles should advance, and to that extent the policy of the Ministry is intelligible; but, no matter what the political exigencies of the moment may be, to saddle the cost of that policy on the retailer constitutes a betrayal which I can only describe as cowardly and immoral from every point of view. (Hear, hear.) To force such conditions upon a body of traders is, in my opinion, legalised dishonesty, and, having supported the Ministry so as to earn the high commendation of each successive Food Controller, our loyalty has been strained to almost breaking point. (Hear, hear.) For months the Ministry of Food has known and admitted that we were handling bacon at an absolute loss as the result of their action, and they have meanwhile allowed to be brought about a similar state of affairs in regard to imported cheese and dried fruits, both of which articles are now offered to us at practically the maximum selling prices—a state of affairs which is incredible to intelligent people, whether engaged in the trade or not. The patience of the retail distributors under such exasperating conditions has been nothing short of wonderful. Numerous promises of amelioration in regard to bacon have been made by the Ministry of Food, and I hope when Mr. Roberts comes to the Conference to-morrow he will announce that relief for which the whole retail trade of the country has patiently awaited, and which can only take the form of complete recontrol, embodying the provision of fair remuneration at all stages. In view of the undoubtedly acute shortage of foodstuffs in Europe, we must look forward to a continuance of control, at least in a modified way—firstly, to avoid, if possible, an increase in the cost of living; and, secondly, that the responsibility for any raising of prices shall rest upon the proper shoulders, in order that retailers may not be unjustly charged as profiteers, whatever the term may mean. I think the best definition of the term is the one which states that the world is made up of people who are profiteers and of those who are not, but who would be if they had the chance, and consequently abuse those who are. Proceeding, the President said that when the burdens of war had been removed they should consider, if possible, the conditions of employment and reasonable hours of opening of shops. The conduct of their business had been hampered by various delays in transport, but he was not sanguine that railway nationalisation would improve that. (Hear, hear.)

At a luncheon to the delegates, Mr. T. H. Ferens, who presided, said—We do not want our railways and our coal mines to get under Government control. (Cheers.)

LORD LEVERHULME.

Lord Leverhulme addressed the afternoon session on after the war problems and the trade. He said that the greatest problem that we had to face was not the six or seven thousand millions war debt, income tax, housing, and so on, but the question of the relationship between the men who pay wages and those who receive them. The workingman was thinking quite as much to-day of the betterment of himself, his wife and children as of the weekly wage. Even the least progressive of them, however, were inclined to question whether the workmen had any desire to receive instruction to fit them for the position they sought to occupy in the control of industry. Under the system of individualism it had no more been possible to keep the young man of ability from rising than to keep a cork at the bottom of the water. He could not imagine any process of selection by voting, which was the one generally proposed, under which, without previous training, men merely by what was called democratic industrialism, could be elected to boards of directors. There could be nothing more certain to bring distress and ruin on the community than that the control of industry and the direction of the operations of business should be entrusted to the extent of one-half in the hands of inexperienced men. The only way in which the present high rates of wages could be maintained was by increased production as a nation. He continued—We should not waste our time as we are doing in endless inquiries as to we nationalisation of this or the other. We have got to bend our efforts entirely to the problem of increased output. It only wants us to take our courage in our hands and draw on our bank balances. Those who want to extend their premises should do it now, for we are on the eve, if we are prepared to take advantage of it, of the strongest demand for commodities produced within the British Empire which the world has ever known. There is no one better fitted, not even the great United States, to take those raw materials, make them up into the manufactured articles, distribute them all over the world, and so bring to this country the money and exchange for those articles as a means of paying off our war indebtedness. He advised that the last distributor who would be put out of action was the small shopkeeper.

A long discussion took place on a resolution to support associations combining for buying purposes.

An amendment, that the Federation should not be brought into the question to advise, support, or recommend the matter to the associations, was carried by a large majority.

The Conference adjourned till to-day.

The Lord Mayor of Liverpool gave a reception to the delegates last night.

THE MURDER OF MR. HUNT.

PARISH PRIEST'S STRONG CONDEMNATION.

In asking prayers for the late District Inspector Hunt, R.I.C., in Gurteen (Co. Sligo) Roman Catholic Church on Sunday, the Very Rev. Canon O'Connor, P.P., said that Mr. Hunt was a native of the parish, and had by his energy and industry lifted himself to the position which he occupied at the time that he was done to death by the foul hand of the assassin. The crime was diabolical in the extreme, was un-Irish and un-Christian. One could understand a man killing another in mortal combat, but killing a man by shooting him in the back was terrible, and a thing which no words in the English language were strong enough to condemn for its cowardly and diabolical character. He tendered sympathy to the relatives of the late Mr. Hunt, and felt sure that in doing so he was expressing the sentiments of every sane and God-fearing man in the parish.

Referring to the firing into the house and the maiming of the cattle of Mr. Michael Mullany, Mcnanagh, Canon O'Connor said that the outrage was a wanton and cowardly one. If there was a grievance there were other means of settling it without having recourse to methods which might have ended in murder. He condemned in the strongest terms that he could command this outrage, which was a blot on the fair name of the parish, which had remained unsullied during the stormy agitations of the past.

ILLEGAL POSSESSION OF EXPLOSIVES.

At Bansha Petty Sessions John O'Connor, farmer, Barnlough, was charged by District Inspector Brownrigg with having a quantity of explosives in his possession without a permit.

The defendant said that he had the explosive (a pound weight of blasting powder) for blasting timber about four years ago, and had forgotten that it was there.

The Chairman (Mr. Bennett) said that there was a proclamation out against the possession of explosives, and the defendant should have searched his premises. Owing to his good character he would be let off with a fine of 10s. and costs, but in future the penalty for such offences would be much heavier.

EXCHEQUER RETURNS.

Exchequer returns:—April 1st to July 5th—Receipts, £207,376,516; expenditure, £420,732,410. Corresponding period last year:—Receipts, £175,055,035; expenditure, £779,880,130.

ROYAL HIBERNIAN MILITARY SCHOOL.

DISTRIBUTION OF PRIZES.

GENERAL SIR FREDERICK SHAW ON DUTY AND LOYALTY.

The annual distribution of prizes in connection with the Royal Hibernian Military School was held yesterday, the ceremony being performed by Lieutenant-General Sir Frederick C. Shaw, K.C.B., Commanding-in-Chief of the Forces in Ireland and Vice-President of the School. The distribution took place in the commodious Dining Hall, and, in addition to the staff and boys attending the School, a large and representative gathering was present. During the proceedings choruses were pleasingly rendered by the boys, who were accompanied by a string band. Included among those who accepted the invitation of the Commandant and officers to be present were:—

Governors of the School: Brigadier-General A. W. Pagan, D.S.O.; Lieut.-Colonel Sir John A. Arnott, Bart., and Lady Arnott, D.B.E.; Mr. John Mooney, C.V.O., D.L., and Miss Mooney; the Master of the Rolls, K.C., P.C., and Mrs. O'Connor; Sir William Fry, D.L., and Lady Fry; Colonel H. G. R. Kennard, C.B.E., and Mrs. Kennard; Brig.-General E. S. Brind, C.M.G., D.S.O., and Mrs. Brind; Major-General J. J. Russell, C.B., M.B., and Mrs. Russell; Lieut.-Colonel H. Findlay, C.B.E., and Mrs. Findlay; Colonel T. W. Hale, C.B., C.M.G.; Major-General F. F. Ready, C.B., C.S.I., C.M.G., D.S.O., and Mrs. Ready. The Dowager Countess of Granard, the Earl and Countess of Fingall, Mr. and Mrs. Maude, Mr. and Mrs. Longworth Dames, Colonel and Mrs. Carson, Colonel and Mrs. Bagnallay, the Knights of Columbus, Right Hon. L. A. Waldron, P.C.; Major J. R. Bury-Barry, O.B.E., and Mrs. Bury-Barry; Lieut.-Colonel T. B. M. Clarke, C.M.G., C.B.E., D.S.O., M.B., and Mrs. Clarke, the Dean of the Chapel Royal and Mrs. O'Hara Mease, Mr. S. W. Maddocks, D.L., and Mrs. Maddocks; Colonel A. W. P. Inman, M.B., and Mrs. Inman; Lieut.-Colonel Sir Lambert H. Ormsby, D.L.; Miss Stella Ormsby, and Miss Marjorie Dibb-Dennis.

ANNUAL REPORT.

Colonel J. McDonnell, C.B., Commandant, read the annual report, which stated, in regard to classroom work, that the results of the examination held by the Headmaster showed very satisfactory progress in all subjects, except English grammar, in which only fair progress had been made. Evidence of the advance was also shown by the results of the Crimean Banquet Fund examinations, for which 61 per cent. of the boys competed. In the senior section three of the prize-winners passed with distinction; in the junior section one—they obtained 80 per cent. and upwards of the total marks. Of the boys admitted this year, 61 per cent. were below the educational standard of their age, as compared with 57 per cent. last year, and 69 per cent. the year before. Forty-two per cent. of the boys at present in the school were still below the educational standard of their age. The school won 14 prizes, including second in the senior division, in the examinations by the War Office for handwriting. Twenty-six boys had this year before joining the Army, qualified for second class certificates of education, and 14 for third class. Very good progress was made in all subjects in the monitors' class, five representing themselves in the open competitive examination for student, the results of which were not yet known. The report went on to refer in detail to the progress that had marked the many activities associated with the school, it being mentioned that second place had been obtained in the competition for the Darnell Excellence Trophy, presented every second year by the Royal Life Saving Society to the school or institution which had done most to help its work. Alluding to the influenza epidemic, the report stated that 8 students and 155 boys were treated in the hospital, of whom one student and one boy died, and tribute was paid to the work in this connection of Dr. Merrick and those working under his direction. During the war the boys had done their utmost to respond to the call for economy, with the following results as compared with 1914—Coal consumption decreased by 25 per cent.; gas consumption decreased by 25 per cent.; cost of feeding boys increased only by 58 per cent.; cost of clothing the boys had remained the same. They had invested £500, which had passed through the War Savings Association. The Roll of Honour, obviously incomplete, contained the names of 75 old boys, who had been killed or died of wounds or disease. The wounded numbered 91; missing and prisoner of war 28. 10 D.C.M.'s, two Military Crosses, eight Military Medals, six M.S.M.'s, two Médailles Militaires, one Croix de Guerre, 18 Mentions in Despatches, three O.B.E.'s, and 57 promotions to commissioned rank. They were in hopes that they could have been able to state that day the memorial to those who had fallen. A sum of £264, which had been collected and had been invested in War Loan, was available, but unexpected delays had prevented them proceeding with the work.

GENERAL SIR FREDERICK SHAW.

Lieutenant-General Sir Frederick C. Shaw, having distributed the prizes to the successful prize-winners, who were loudly applauded on coming forward, said that this was the second occasion on which it had been his privilege to present the prizes at that school. He hoped he now knew more of the school than he did last year, on the first occasion when he came there. He had had an opportunity of seeing the boys both at their work and at their play, and it had always given him the greatest pleasure to come there and see them all, and see the bright and happy faces, which showed contentment and good militarisation. He had had an opportunity of becoming acquainted with the system of teaching and its results, and also of its organisation of games and sports, and in that respect also, The report showed how successfully the school had been in both respects, and he thought that all concerned ought to be congratulated on the excellent results. Here he had noticed great progress had been made in the classroom work [illegible] the scholastic and physical side had their respective importance [illegible] scholastic was the greater. Physical training and proficiency in games played a most important part, because a healthy mind was required in a healthy body. If they put these two in combination they ought to triumph over most difficulties. But still more important than physical efficiency was mental education. Mental and physical efficiency were partners, but the predominant partner was the former, and their scholastic training was intended to develop that side of the partnership. There they had every opportunity in that respect, and the fact was shown in the great number of boys who had competed and had won prizes. (Hear, hear.) This admirable result had not been achieved without much additional work on the [illegible] of his staff. Their work was already known, but they had met the approval of all in a manner which was [illegible] of the highest praise. (Applause.) He noticed also that the Superintendent of Physical Training had made a very good report upon the school. His report he could confirm by personal observations. He had seen the boys at their sports, and he saw the President at the boxing competition at the when every boy fought with his whole heart and soul and showed the utmost determination to win his match. In the game and sports also he took a great interest, that they were excellently, and there was nothing he liked better than to come and take part in them. It was very satisfactory to see that the majority of the students had returned, and had resumed their studies, and that the establishment was now nearly full. He had had an opportunity this year of seeing the boys in camp at [illegible]. They were very happy and contented at these annual camps for those boys who could not get away home for their holidays were of the greatest benefit, and Major [illegible] Smyth, who organised and superintended them, deserved a word of thanks for the way in which he had been so successful in making the boys happy during their holidays. (Hear, hear.)

He believed that it was expected of him that he should say a few words to those who were leaving and that he should give them a little advice, especially to those boys who were about to go out into the world. Perhaps he might be allowed to say that he [illegible] to qualify for offering such advice [illegible] now nearly 40 years in the Army, and of that nearly 30 years [illegible] closely connected with the [illegible] rank and file.

DUTY, DISCIPLINE, AND LOYALTY.

What he wanted to say [illegible] they were all sons of soldiers and sailors, and he hoped that most of them would eventually select to serve their King and country in one or other branch of the fighting forces of the Crown. Their fathers, in many cases, and their grandfathers, had served as fighting men, and such successes that had been [illegible] were due primarily to three things. First—A great sense of duty that had produced that great determination to win which had made the armed forces of the British Crown a thing to be feared above all things by the enemies of the country. (Applause.) Secondly—A sense of discipline which had made possible that co-ordination of effort without which an armed body might be [illegible] for the enemy. Thirdly—A sense of loyalty to the King and to those who were set over them, which was one of the greatest assets which had for generations been most conspicuously present with the soldiers and sailors of this country. (Applause.) He wanted them last year principally on the subject of discipline, and he had nothing to add to what he said then. Discipline was [illegible] but loyalty was not less so. Loyalty meant not only loyalty to the King, but loyalty to those set over them and loyalty to their comrades. It had been for years the boast of both the Army and Navy that the relations between officers and men and that between men of the same rank [illegible] as exist in no other forces in the world. He believed them to be true officers who were upon their men as their friends and were ready always to hold out the hand of friendship to them. The men on their side had this feeling by a not less strong sense of friendship for their officers. The [illegible]

(BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT WITH THE PROPRIETORS OF THE TIMES.)

THE HOUR OF IRELAND.

We conclude this morning, says The Times, the important series of articles upon "Irish Peace." Their authors may justly claim to have given a new tone to the consideration of the problem. They have paid balanced attention to some of its aspects, of which too little has hitherto been heard, save, perhaps, in the assertion and denial of partisans. Swift decision and action is, indeed, essential to success. At most the Government have six months in which to substitute for the unworkable Home Rule Act some just and feasible measure. The time within which the judgment of the world will go against them by default, unless they prove their good faith by deeds, is short [illegible] far. If the summer session be allowed to close without some positive step being taken towards a sound Irish settlement, it may be too late in the autumn. We refrain at this moment from criticising the action which the authorities state they have been compelled to take in Tipperary. It may be an inevitable development of the present Irish policy. But that policy is at best negative. At worst it is obstructive—and destructive of much that [illegible] sides Irish peace. It needs urgently to be replaced by a policy that shall be at once in accordance with the principles of whatever federal scheme may presently be evolved for Great Britain; that shall leave ample latitude for development, and that must inevitably be imposed upon Ireland by the British Parliament. Within these limits it is for the Government to work out promptly the details of a scheme that they can proclaim to the world as proof positive of the honesty of their intention and of the firmness of their just purpose. We are persuaded that an Irish settlement can be framed, and that it can be so applied as to command the assent of an increasingly large proportion of the Irish people. We know that the people of England desire such a settlement, and we are convinced that they would resent sternly with any Government which should fail to seize the great opportunity that now presents itself.

THE HOUR OF IRISH PEACE.

The tenth article on Ireland by Special Correspondents of The Times, published to-day, concludes the series. Taking a parting glance at the subject, as it were, standing back in order to obtain, so far as may be, the true perspective, the article says:—We see an island containing about 4,000,000 people, richly endowed by nature, and the inheritance of a gifted and capable race. In language and in civilisation and in intercourse, it is obviously a part of the British Islands, and yet the murmurs of its discontent reach afar. It is little more than the nucleus of a greater Irish race spread throughout the new worlds of America and the Dominions. Happenings within it are communicated by waves of racial sympathy to millions of its children who have never seen its shores. Under rural conditions the local politician is a power. Every Irishman is afraid of his neighbour's opinion; all desire "to stand well." This is the enthusiasts find it easy to gain the concert of popular support—they are always extreme Nationalists. There is nothing else to be enthusiastic about; so organisation was strong. There is a species of terrorism, but few stand out against it. Referring to the urgency of a settlement of the Irish difficulty, the article concludes as follows:— Britain will be judged by her intentions, Ireland by her reason. Might we not say this to sympathisers with Ireland throughout the world?—"We admit freely the justice of the majority of the Irish people to self-government. We are seeking a measure which, while denying the legitimate rights of no class of Irishmen, will confer upon that country the opportunity of developing its national life according to its ideals. The paramount necessity of securing these islands from foreign aggression, the maintenance of the Commonwealth of British nations under the British Crown, the natural bonds of economic relationship between them are the only limits which we recognise. That is our aim, and for it we desire the sympathy and understanding of all free peoples. If we fail, we shall fail through no fault of our own. But whether we succeed or fail, we shall confidently ask you whether you would, countries, in our circumstances, have acted more wisely or more generously." In the presence of such urgent necessity for action, the Government cannot afford to delay. The world is questioning, and the British people realise the need for prompt response. The peace for which [illegible] has waited four bitter years has been signed. The Government turns from Paris to face a new country, with new needs and new demands. Ireland remains malcontent and truculent, obstructing the paths of domestic reform and of imperial relationship. The hour has come for the hour of an Irish peace.

THE LORDS AND IRELAND.

Lord MacDonnell has, states The Times, given notice of the following for next Tuesday's sitting of the House of Lords:—To call attention to the Prime Minister's letter of February 25, 1918, to Sir H. Plunkett, the Chairman of the Irish Convention, and to ask His Majesty's Government, with special reference to paragraph 7 of that letter, whether legislative proposals for the creation of an Irish Parliament will be soon undertaken, and whether the Royal Commission referred to in paragraph 6 of the same letter will be constituted at an early date.

ULSTER AND EXCLUSION.

Lord Farnham, writing from Farnham, Cavan, to The Times on the suggestion in the articles on Irish Peace that Cavan, Monaghan, and Donegal were released from their Covenant as a means of defeating Home Rule, says:—The agreement whereby the three counties stood out was come to in June, 1916. There was then no question of "defeating Home Rule," for the Act had been on the Statute Book for nearly two years. But there was a question of rallying Ireland to the side of Great Britain in an extreme crisis of the great war.

THE EX-KAISER'S TRIAL.

The Government will be given the opportunity of making a further statement in the House of Commons this afternoon on the arrangements for the trial of the Kaiser in London, says The Times Parliamentary Correspondent. On the principle of bringing the Kaiser to trial the Coalition members, who form five-sixths of the House of Commons, have made their minds at the General Election, and their minds made up for them. [illegible] The trial of the Kaiser is regarded almost universally as [illegible] many [illegible] ing of the [illegible] last December. One thing [illegible] the House of Commons is clearly determined [illegible] and that is the creation of a German [illegible] It is understood that the [illegible] Governments on this subject [illegible] consideration [illegible] consultations which preceded the [illegible] It should be further [illegible] none of the questions which have [illegible] about the experience of the Kaiser [illegible] being raised about the [illegible] his former subjects whose names [illegible] Allies' list. Nobody doubts that these persons, one and all, ought to be tried.

PRESIDENT WILSON'S TASK.

The President is returning to the toughest battle of his career, declares The Times Washington Correspondent, and [illegible] might, if superficially [illegible] stoutest heart. Behind the [illegible] from honest American [illegible] from motives born of the [illegible] situation, are preparing [illegible] find alien influences hostile to the Treaty. THE FORESTRY BILL.

Lord Haldane's attempt to [illegible] the Forestry Bill in the House of Lords on Monday failed, as it deserved to fail, observes The Times. His objection was [illegible] for a careful examination of the proposals of the bill shows that Parliamentary control over expenditure is sufficiently preserved. The Germans are the best foresters in Europe, as India long ago had reason to know, and we are probably the worst.

THE EX-KAISER'S TRIAL.

The Government will be given the opportunity of making a further statement in the House of Commons this afternoon on the arrangements for the trial of the Kaiser in London, says The Times Parliamentary Correspondent. On the principle of bringing the Kaiser to trial the Coalition members, who form five-sixths of the House of Commons, made up their minds at the General Election, or had their minds made up for them by the electors. The trial of the Kaiser is regarded almost universally as the most binding of the many election pledges of last December. One thing the House of Commons is clearly determined to avoid, and that is the creation of a German Royal martyr. It is understood that the advisers of the Allied Governments on this subject had this vital consideration constantly in mind in the consultations which preceded the Paris decisions. It should be further placed on record, that none of the questions which have been asked about the expediency of the Kaiser's trial is being raised about the indictment of those of his former subjects whose names are on the Allies' list. Nobody doubts that these persons, one and all, ought to be tried.

PRESIDENT WILSON'S TASK.

The President is returning to the toughest battle of his career, declares The Times Washington Correspondent, and to a situation which might, if superficially scrutinised, appal the stoutest heart. Behind the Americans who, from honest American motives, or, anyhow, from motives born of the American political situation, are preparing to oppose him, he will find alien influences hostile to the League and the Treaty. Mr. de Valera has been wildly applauded by hordes of Irish-Americans for consigning the Covenant to perdition, because it takes no note of the plight of Ireland, and German-Americans, judging from their Press, are as anxious to see frustrated the terms of the Treaty as any of their cousins at home.

THE FORESTRY BILL.

Lord Haldane's attempt to throw out the Forestry Bill in the House of Lords on Monday failed, as it deserved to fail, observes The Times. His objection was querulous, for a very careful examination of the provisions of the bill shows that Parliamentary control over expenditure is sufficiently preserved. The Germans are the best foresters in Europe, as India long ago had reason to know, and we are probably the worst.

THE ALLIES AND AUSTRIA.

REPLY TO HER NOTE.

TERMS OF ADMISSION TO THE LEAGUE.

The Press Association's Paris Correspondent telegraphed yesterday:—The text of the Allies' reply to the Austrian Note regarding the League of Nations was issued here this evening. It is as follows:—

The principal Allied and Associated Powers note with satisfaction the adherence of the Austrian Delegation to the project of a League of Nations, and to the principles upon which such a League of Nations has been founded by the Covenant embodied in the conditions of Peace. They are glad to know that the Austrian Government share their view that the establishment of such a League will conduce to the maintenance of peace in those parts of the world which hitherto have been centres of international frictions and misunderstandings. The principal Allied and Associated Powers have taken into careful consideration the demand of the Austrian Delegation for the admission of their country as an original member of the League of Nations. It has never been their intention to exclude Austria for any long period from the League. On the contrary, they wish to reiterate that it is their hope and conviction that the League will, at the earliest possible date, include all nations that can be trusted to carry out the obligation accepted by members of the League. They must point out, however, that in urging the claim of Austria to membership of the League as immediately necessary to the safety of their territory, the Austrian Delegation have used some arguments which appear to indicate that they have not fully appreciated the provisions of the Covenant. But they recognise, nevertheless, the strength of the claim put forward by the Austrian Delegation. They fully appreciate the evidence which, by the attitude which she has hitherto observed, Austria has given of her good intention. They see no reason why she should not apply for admission to the League in accordance with the provisions of Article 1 of the Covenant at the earliest opportunity that may present itself after the ratification of the Treaty of Peace. As soon as they are assured that Austria possesses a responsible Government, and that this Government has both the will and the power to fulfil its international obligations, they are prepared to support Austria's candidature for admission to the League.

The principal Allied and Associated Powers have carefully studied the interesting proposals with regard to the settlement of international disputes, and the details of the organisation of a permanent Court of International Justice put forward by Dr. Lammasch in annexes A and B to the Austrian Note. They are impressed with the value of some of Dr. Lammasch's suggestions, but, while they consider the immediate establishment of a permanent court to be of the highest importance, they have not thought it possible or expedient to embody in the Covenant itself the detailed provisions required for its constitution. They will submit Annexes A and B of the Austrian Note for the consideration of the Council of the League when it undertakes the preparation of a plan for the establishment of a permanent court in accordance with Article 14 of the Covenant. Furthermore, the principal Allied and Associated Powers are not of opinion that an addition to the Covenant of the sort proposed in Annex C, regarding Article 23, is at the present time necessary or possible. They would point out that Article 23 stipulates that freedom of transit and equitable treatment for commerce of all members of the League shall be secured, subject to, and in accordance with, the provisions of International Conventions existing or hereafter to be agreed upon. They feel confident that when the members of the League proceed to formulate the General International Convention, foreseen in this article, the proposals of the Austrian Delegation contained in Annex C will receive due consideration.

PRESIDENT WILSON AT NEW YORK.

THE SENATE PROCEDURE.

A New York telegram, dated Tuesday, says:—The George Washington entered New York Harbour at 1.30 this afternoon, and was greeted by the whistles and sirens of innumerable harbour craft. President and Mrs. Wilson, at the bridge, waved hands in response to the cheers of thousands of returning soldiers and others lining the rails of the transports and other pleasure craft in the harbour.

Arrangements, says a Washington telegram, are completed for the appearance of President Wilson in the Senate on Thursday, when he will present the Treaty with Germany. Senator Lodge will introduce a resolution asking the President if it is not incompatible with the public interest to transmit to the Senate information regarding the alleged secret treaty between Japan and Germany. His request is based on a Moscow wireless message, published in the Budapest newspapers. Senator Sherman will also submit a resolution asking the President by what authority he had undertaken to impose on the people of this country, and make its Government subject to, the League of Nations.

A New York telegram, dated Monday, states:—The Correspondent of the Associated Press on board the George Washington says that President Wilson has completed his Address to Congress. The President deals with questions relating to the Peace Treaty, protocols, and the work of the Conference, but only on broad lines, leaving the more comprehensive discussion for a later date, when the Senate Foreign Relations Committee is considering these questions. The President expects to speak extempore at the Carnegie Hall.

GERMANY'S COLLAPSE.

FIERCE ATTACK ON LUDENDORFF.

HIS FATAL FOLLY.

The Press Association's Berlin Correspondent, writing on July 8th, says:—The assertion of the Pan-German Party, that the Left Party's political agitation was to blame for the military collapse, is emphatically contradicted in an open letter, which the Inspector of Shells, Herr Fuchs, publishes to-day. In support of the accusation that General Ludendorff deliberately gave a false turn to public opinion, and is still deceiving the nation, the writer asserts that the stoppage of the manufacture of heavy guns was ordered in the autumn of 1917, because General Ludendorff, in his offensive, planned for March, 1918, intended to get guns from the enemy. But things turned out otherwise, and in the Flanders battle Germany's Army lost in a single day its entire equipment of 8,000 heavy-calibre guns. These could not be replaced, because the machinery in the gun factories had been dismantled at General Ludendorff's orders. Enormous quantities of shells, in consequence, could not be used. For nine months before its collapse, the German Army was standing under fire without heavy artillery. "You knew, Herr Ludendorff, how matters stood," writes Herr Fuchs, "and yet you did not negotiate with the enemy, but continued to gamble uselessly, driving men forward against the war machines of the whole world." The big Isonzo counter-offensive, he continues, came to nothing because 50,000 shells failed to explode, but General Ludendorff telegraphed the news of three tremendous victories throughout the country, and at the same time sent an officer to the munition works to inquire who was responsible for the defeat. "And such a man," the letter continues, "would now make us responsible, when the edifice of his atrocious lies collapses." Describing what the situation was at the time, Herr Fuchs writes:—"Our material is becoming worse and worse. We have no guns, no tanks, no material. The numerical, and particularly the technical, superiority of the Entente is becoming enormous. A hundred machine-guns fire more than ten; a thousand heavy guns more than ten light ones. Ten thousand tanks and squadrons of airmen do greater damage than none at all." In conclusion, Herr Fuchs says:—"Numbers and weight brought about our downfall; and you, and not the German people, are responsible that our downfall is so heavy."

SPITSBERGEN GROUP OF ISLANDS.

An Exchange Paris telegram says:—The Supreme Council of the Allies discussed the question of the Spitsbergen group of Islands, where the rich coal mines were the subject of International Conferences before the war. Norway has brought the matter to the notice of the Conference. The Council seems inclined to recognise the claims of Norway if she would not object to international control of the mines.

OVERSEAS TRADE.

The resignation of Sir Arthur Steel-Maitland, which was announced yesterday, will (declares The Times) draw public attention to the extremely unsatisfactory position of the new Department of Overseas Trade, created with the avowed object of providing a neutral basis on which the Foreign Office and the Board of Trade could co-operate harmoniously to further British trade interests abroad. The scheme has been brought within measurable distance of complete failure by the continuance of inter-departmental feuds and personal jealousies. But with the departure of this honest and well-intentioned, if unsuccessful, Minister, the Government have not got rid of their difficulty.

DENIKIN'S SUCCESS

ON ASTRAKHAN FRONT.

OVER 10,000 PRISONERS TAKEN.

CAVALRY DROWNED IN THE VOLGA.

THE CRIMEA LIBERATED.

A Press Association war special telegram says:—The War Office announce that the advance of General Denikin's Volunteer Army is continuing with great success on all parts of the front.

On the Astrakhan front the Volunteers have reached a point on the Caspian coast 55 miles south-west of Astrakhan. Another column is on the banks of the Volga, north-west of the Cherni Var-Tsaritsin-Saratov front. Tsaritsin was taken by General Denikin, after fierce fighting. The Bolsheviks fled in confusion, abandoning 10,000 prisoners, 19 guns, 30 machine guns, five armoured trains, 5,000 wagons, and 131 engines. The General Officer Commanding the 9th Red Army was taken captive. Large numbers of enemy cavalry endeavouring to escape were driven into the Volga and annihilated. The Volunteers, pursuing vigorously, occupied Dubovke, 30 miles above Tsaritsin, the base of the 10th Red Army. Much river craft and three million roubles in cash (the pay fund of the Army) were taken at this place.

Further to the north-west the Volunteers have taken the Balashov supply base of the 9th Red Army, with 70 guns, much ammunition and many engines and wagons. Serious anti-Bolshevik risings have taken place around the Tambov-Voronej-Kursk front. The Don Cossacks have pushed their line up to the Balashov-Valuiki railway, and are now less than fifty miles from the Voronej-Kharkov-Koltava front. The Volunteers occupied Kharkov, the fifth largest city in Russia, on June 24. The advance has since been continued to a line forty miles beyond the city. To the south the Volunteers have taken Konstantinograd, and advanced to a point thirty-five miles from the Poltava-Dnieper front. The operations on this part of the front have met with most brilliant success. Ekaterinoslav, the capital of a fertile province, and Alexandrovsk, an important railway junction, and a crossing over the Dnieper have been taken, and the Volunteers have passed over to the west bank of that river on a front of seventy miles.

Another important result of this operation has been the entire liberation of the Crimea, owing to the fact that the Bolsheviks in that peninsula were deprived, by the capture of Alexandrovsk, of their sole railway line of communication. The Volunteers, following these forces from Kertch as they retired, took Simferopol on June 20, and Sebastopol and Perekop on the 27th. The Bolsheviks were followed up beyond the Isthmus at the latter place, and their pursuers are now approaching the crossing of the Lower Dnieper, east of Nickolaiev.

THE RUSSIAN NORTHERN CORPS.

SUCCESS BY GENERAL MAYNARD.

The War Office issues the following:—General Maynard reports that at midnight on July 6th-7th our troops captured the village of Kapeselga, on the railway, 18 miles south-west of Medvyejya-Gora. The position was one of considerable strength, and the enemy were supported by five guns. In order to allow our guns to register the position a feint attack was carried out on the 5th. This proved entirely successful, and when the main attack started out guns brought heavy and accurate fire to bear on the main point of attack. This, together with threats from both flanking columns, enabled us to capture the village without a single casualty. We captured one officer and 49 other ranks, together with three machine guns.

AN IRISH SETTLEMENT.

THE GOVERNMENT'S POLICY.

A FEDERAL SOLUTION.

GENEROUS FINANCIAL TREATMENT.

(From our Special Correspondent.)

London, Tuesday Night.

From an authoritative source I am now able to give an outline of the policy that the Government intends to pursue towards Ireland. It must be remembered that the Irish Home Rule Act now on the Statute Book does not automatically come into force until six months after the last enemy Power has ratified peace. This will probably be Bulgaria, and the date can hardly be this year. The Government have, therefore, until the end of the year to formulate an alternative policy with regard to Ireland. There will be very generous financial treatment of Ireland. It is recognised that the financial arrangements of the Home Rule Act are now quite unworkable, and, after spending great sums in the war and on national schemes, the Government cannot jeopardise an Irish settlement for a few millions. Then the settlement, whatever it is, will almost certainly be proposed as a part of a Federal solution, and there is some confidence that Ireland will not be able to refuse the settlement which is accepted by Scotland and Wales. Then, until the system of Irish Government is altered, the Irish Administration will continue firmly to enforce law and order. It is realised that any vacillation or indecision would discourage the law-abiding elements of the public and officials.

SIR EDWARD CARSON AND THE UNION.

"HANDS OFF ULSTER."

The following motion to be submitted to the meeting in Belfast stands in the name of Sir Edward Carson:—"We demand the repeal of the Home Rule Act, which has been repudiated by every party in Ireland, and we confidently re-assert that a Parliamentary Union is essential for the preservation of our liberties and for the security of the British Empire."

In the first issue of The Ulsterwoman, a new monthly which has been published by the Ulster Women's Unionist Council, the following appears in a letter from Sir Edward Carson:—"Strange as it may appear, there are still to be found those who have learnt nothing from the war, and imagine that Ulster may still be coerced under the government of those whose motto for the years of the war was 'England's difficulty is Ireland's opportunity.' To all such we say with ever-increasing emphasis, 'Hands off Ulster.' We will have no truck with those whose main contribution to the war was a conspiracy to help the enemies of our King and Empire."

JULY CELEBRATIONS.

The arrangements have now been completed for the annual Twelfth of July demonstrations of Orangemen in Ulster centres. The Grand Orange Lodge of Belfast will hold its demonstration at Ballymenock, Holywood, and amongst the speakers will be Sir Edward Carson, who will, no doubt, deliver an important speech in view of the revival of the Home Rule controversy. The chair will be taken at one o'clock by the Grand Master, Colonel Robert H. Wallace, C.B., D.L.

MILITARY FORCES IN IRELAND.

In the House of Commons yesterday,

Lieut.-Colonel Malone asked the Secretary of State for War the number of His Majesty's military and Air Forces now stationed in Ireland.

Mr. Churchill—The totals, including officers and other ranks, are—Army, 59,529; Air Force, 1,789.

Lieut.-Col. Malone asked the Chief Secretary when it is anticipated that the proposals of the Government with regard to the future administration of Ireland will be brought before this House.

Mr. Macpherson—I am not in a position to make any statement on the subject.

BELFAST AND THE VICTORY LOAN.

A Victory Loan Fête was held at Balmoral, Belfast, yesterday, with many attractive features. In the afternoon a meeting was held at Balmoral Show grounds, presided over by Sir James Johnston.

Brig.-General Seely, who was the principal speaker, paid a high tribute to the heroism of the men of Ulster, and of Ireland, in the war, and referring to Lord French, who, he said, was beloved throughout the length and breadth of the country, said that he had saved the Empire at a most critical time by his brilliant leadership. He did not always see eye to eye in days gone by with some distinguished men from Belfast. He had had many a wordy contest with his friend, Sir Edward Carson. He saw him before leaving London, and he told him that he was coming to Belfast. Sir Edward replied, "Good luck to you, and get all the money out of them that you can." (Laughter.) Subscribe now, concluded General Seely, and then you can throw your hats up on the "Twelfth."

R 34's RETURN.

THE START POSTPONED.

The Air Ministry announces that R 34 will probably start on the night of the 9th on her homeward journey.

EXCHANGE OF GREETINGS.

The Mayor of New York, Mr. Hylam, has received a letter of goodwill and friendship from the Lord Mayor of London, which the R.34 brought as part of the mail which she carried. Mr. Hylam has written a response, declaring that the success of the British airmen has demonstrated the practicability of the lighter than air craft, and promises to revolutionise the present day means of travel and transportation.

A Washington message says:—When Congress reassembles after a week's recess, a message from the Speaker of the House of Commons, brought by R 34, will be laid before the House of Representatives. The message presents the compliments of the Speaker of the House of Commons to the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and conveys expressions of good-will and friendship from the British people to the people across the Atlantic.

THE TRANSPORT BILL.

REPORT STAGE PASSED.

THE APPOINTMENT OF PARLIAMENTARY SECRETARIES.

The House of Commons yesterday continued the consideration on Report of the Ministry of Ways and Communications Bill.

Mr. Rawlinson moved an amendment to Clause 19, providing that there should be only one paid Parliamentary Secretary of the Ministry, and not two as proposed. He said that he moved this resolution on the ground of economy, and also because it was inadvisable to multiply the number of paid officials in the House.

Colonel Grettan seconded, and said that the House should jealously watch any increase in the Government entourage.

Sir E. Pollock opposed the amendment. It would be physically impossible to carry on the work with less than two Under Secretaries, who would receive a salary of £1,500 each. He was willing that the appointment should be limited to three years, as it was at the outset that the work of the department would be heaviest.

Sir Donald Maclean had the strongest objection to the increase of official and semi-official members.

Mr. Joynson Hicks objected to an increase in the number of placemen in the House.

Earl Winterton said that the sooner the Government realised the strength of public feeling on these matters the better it would be for them. We were rapidly approaching the state of affairs of 150 years ago.

Other members appealed to the Government to give way on the matter.

Mr. Bonar Law said that he recognised the unanimous feeling of all the speakers, but he thought that they were wrong. This department would have an immense amount of work to do. It was not worth while curtailing the usefulness of the department—for that was what it meant—(cries of "No" and hear, hear)—out of what, to a considerable extent, was a feeling of prejudice. It was like spoiling the ship for a halfpennyworth of tar. In view of the strong feeling expressed, however, he would leave the matter open to the free decision of the House. (Cheers.)

On a division there voted—

For the amendment	165
Against	132
Majority	33

The result was received with cheers.

The bill passed through the report stage.

NAVY AND ARMY CHIEFS HONOURED.

Sir David Beatty and Field-Marshal Sir Douglas Haig received the Freedom of Newcastle-on-Tyne yesterday. Visiting the Exchange in the morning Sir Douglas Haig spoke of the tendency to minimise what our own "fellows" had done in the field. For the last two years, he said, old England bore the brunt of the fighting. All at home should realise this, and stick to the men and their dependents. At the Freedom ceremony Sir David Beatty complimented the Tyneside on its invaluable services to the Fleet. Mr. Shortt, Home Home Secretary, commenting on Sir Douglas Haig's advice to ex-Service men to refrain from politics, declared that they could best get what they wanted through politics.

A banquet followed in the evening.

A telegram was received from the King replying to the peace congratulations, in which the following occurred:—

The King realises the splendid record of the North-East Coast, both as regards the output of work and the happy conditions under which this has been accomplished. The King earnestly trusts that the influence of the Institution will be energetically exercised in the work of reconstruction and of revival of trade, so indispensable to the future prosperity and general well-being of the Empire.

Sir David Beatty, replying to the toast of the Imperial Forces, said that he did not subscribe to the doctrine that the German shipships were infinitely superior to our own. In many respects they were superior for the work they had to do. (Cheers and laughter.)

INTERNATIONAL TRADE POLICY.

SIR A. STEEL MAITLAND RESIGNS.

Sir Arthur Steel Maitland, M.P., head of the Department of Overseas Trade, has tendered his resignation to the Prime Minister. The following correspondence has passed:—

"June 23rd.

"Dear Bonar Law,—As the Prime Minister is in Paris, I write to you, as representing him, to place my resignation in your hands. I do not know whether the Government is really in earnest as regards re-establishing international trade (which I myself consider vital), but, at least so far as I am concerned, I cannot continue to take the responsibility for work under such conditions that I cannot develop it, or, indeed, carry it on properly, and when I am constantly hung up, as, for example, with the Consular and kindred services. Everyone, of course, may be inclined to over-estimate the importance of the work with which he is connected, but I really believe that work of the kind that has been started in the Department of Overseas Trade, and which was undertaken before by either the Board of Trade or the Foreign Office separately, may be made of the highest value. Any help, therefore, that I can give, I gladly will, for the sake of the work, and if I can be of use in carrying on for a limited time, while you are looking for a successor, I will do so. There is one other matter that ought to be put straight. I hope that more consideration will be given to the conditions under which the staff of the Department have been obliged to work. Their enthusiasm has been surprising, as your own Treasury Committee pointed out, and they were ready to put up with any conditions during war time, but these ought now to be put on a proper basis. The recent move makes things somewhat better, but the situation is yet far from satisfactory.—Yours sincerely,

"Arthur Steel Maitland."

"July 7th.

"My dear Steel Maitland,—I have discussed your letter with the Prime Minister, and he joins me in expressing the greatest regret that you have found it necessary to resign your position in the Government. It is, therefore, with great reluctance that I accept your resignation on his behalf.—Yours very sincerely,

"A. Bonar Law."

MR. SMILLIE AND THE COALITION.

AN INTERNATIONAL LABOUR PARTY.

Messrs. Robert Smillie and Frank Hodges were the principal speakers at Morriston yesterday in support of Mr. Williams, the Labour candidate for the Swansea East by-election.

Mr. Smillie said that he had long ago come to the decision that the workers were producing enough, so far as material wealth was concerned, to make them happy, and why should the producers, who were by far the majority, either be in poverty or on the verge of it, as they had been. Yet a smaller number of men of the landlord and capitalist class lived continually in luxury, not through any effort on their own part. There had never been such a combination of profiteers, capitalists, and landlords, and their representatives, as was in the House of Commons to-day. Every moment of their lives they were scheming, setting aside their political aspirations and desires to pit their interests against the workers of the country. A great deal depended upon the result of that by-election, and he urged them to return the Labour candidate. He asked them to return the Labour candidate as a blow against conscription in this country, and said that the Labour Party was anxious to establish an international party of workers, which would stop all future wars.

THE CLONMEL STRIKE.

Great hopes of a settlement of the Clonmel strike were entertained yesterday, when the Asylum Management Committee met the representatives of the attendants, but the negotiations failed on the question of whether the whole 105 attendants who went out on strike should return, or whether only 97 should resume.

WAR PENSIONS COMMITTEE.

A DUBLIN WITNESS.

ALLEGED UNDUE DELAYS.

"A HOSTILE ATMOSPHERE."

EX-SOLDIERS AND THE LAND.

The War Pensions Committee, with Sir Montague Barlow in the chair, heard yesterday the evidence of Mr. W. G. Fallon, Secretary of the City of Dublin War Pensions Committee. In dealing with undue delays which had occurred at Chelsea and Baker street, between the dates of application for pensions and the grant of pensions, witness cited a case in which an application had been made on behalf of a widow in July, 1918, and nothing had happened since.

The Chairman—Have you written again?

Witness—Yes; but we generally stop after the third or fourth time. They had written three months ago.

The Chairman—What in your opinion happened?

Witness—It is a common experience with local committees—we get quite accustomed to it.

Mr. Charles White—Had separation allowances been received? No; it had been stopped twenty-six weeks after the death of the husband.

The Chairman—It seems to be a bad case.

Witness—It is not the only one.

Chairman—There seems to be a great many more than there ought to be.

Mr. White—Have you been paying the applicant from your own fund? Yes. The Special Grants Committee, said witness, was not sufficiently elastic. The members were absolutely inaccessible.

The Chairman—Would decentralisation improve that?

Witness replied that it would. The work of local committees, continued Mr. Fallon, was unique, in that they had to deal with applicants in a way that no Government Department had ever done. They had to see the applicants, and deal with them in a personal way. The Dublin Committee, moreover, never had an opportunity of exchanging views with other committees as to the best way of carrying on that unique work. The work had grown enormously, and illness among the staff had resulted.

The Chairman—You have a large number of voluntary workers?

Witness—We have a good many, but it is difficult to obtain officials.

The Chairman remarked that there should have been no financial difficulty, as that matter had been taken up by the Central Committee, and witness replied that that was not the difficulty, but rather it was in obtaining officials capable of taking on responsible work.

CUMBROUS REGULATIONS.

Witness criticised the cumbrousness of regulations, which, he said, were often cancelled before they were received by local committees, and went on to say that, although local offices were always loyal to the head office the head office had unwittingly failed to support the local committees. As a result local committees were discredited in the eyes of numbers of applicants. Outside organisations had got into direct communication with the Ministry of Pensions, and had received the reply that the matter was being taken up. Then they were inclined to discredit the local committees. Also local committees had not always received information about regulations promptly, and troops of applicants requested that they should receive allowances under new regulations weeks before those regulations were received. As to the employment of ex-soldiers, witness said that his committee had a large number of discharged officers and men. They advertised for workers, and stated that preference would be given to ex-Army men, but a sufficient number was not obtainable. Few workers were really of any use to them under twelve months.

Mr. White—Is it true that discharged soldiers want 40s. a week while civilian clerks will come for less? Yes.

It is a very low wage? Yes; but conditions in Dublin are not the same as they are in England.

Dealing with the disadvantages of the quasi-Government and quasi-civilian nature of the committees, witness said that he could not obtain police assistance in connection with his work, because the police ignored him and they did not know anything about the committee. It was only through personal influence that they had succeeded in obtaining any police assistance at all.

In answer to Sir John Butcher, witness said that he had applied to the Chief Commissioner, who was very courteous, but unable to help. The Commissioner had no authority because he did not know what the Pensions Committee was—whether it was Governmental or civilian, and the office was regarded as a private house. The police would be some distance away, and with a good deal of money in the place and a crowd of men it was a continual source of anxiety to the secretary.

"A HOSTILE ATMOSPHERE."

Referring to the general difficulties existing in Dublin, witness said that a hostile atmosphere prevailed, which reacted on the disabled men. The secretary had to be not only an official, but a diplomat and something of a public man as well.

The Chairman—Is not every Irishman that?

The difficulties, of employing disabled men, went on the witness, were just as accentuated in Dublin as they appeared to be on that side. In connection with that he would like to say that on his committee there were some very prominent men in Dublin to whom he wished to pay a tribute of gratitude for what they had done, although they held strong views on other subjects. They had gone out of their way to acquaint trade unionists with the necessity of doing their best in the interest of disabled men generally, and to make their home-coming as comfortable as might be. As a rule the atmosphere among the trade unionists was not at all favourable, and would have been uncomfortable but for the assistance given by the four trade union bodies on his committee.

The Chairman—I am very glad to hear it.

Sir J. Butcher—A hostile attitude on the part of whom?

Witness—On the part of the general public at large against disabled men.

Sir J. Butcher—Why?

Witness—I can only suggest that you try to visualise Dublin City during the last four years—especially the last two years—and imagine the heat generated and the difficulties of all sorts created.

Sir J. Butcher—These men have been fighting in France for our country—you do not mean to tell me that there is heat or hostility against them?

Witness—The fact is that a reaction took place in Dublin. These men went off amidst tremendous enthusiasm five years ago. In the intervening period things had happened in Ireland. When these men came back disabled and broken down they found their own relations had altered their views on public affairs, and things were exceedingly uncomfortable for the unfortunate men.

Sir J. Butcher said that it did not seem fair that resentment should be visited on those men.

Witness—I am only stating facts. He referred to an incident in a political procession when an officer attempted to ride through on his motor cycle. There was disorder, and the crowd assumed a threatening attitude towards disabled men who were looking on.

The Chairman—I think we all appreciate that the political situation may cause difficulties.

Dealing with pensions administration, witness said that among disabled men who were still suffering mentally as a result of their disablement there existed almost delusions on the subject of the hostility shown towards them.

Sir J. Butcher—Is that among patients going to hospital? Yes; I contend that there should be separate institutions for these men. It was his experience, he added, that 80 per cent. of the disabled men required hospital and sanatorium treatment after their discharge. It would not be very expensive to carry on one of the Red Cross hospitals which were now closing down as a War Pensions Institution.

EX-SERVICE MEN AND THE LAND.

With regard to the placing of ex-Service men on the land, witness said that there was every reason why the lot of those men should be made a happy one, and suggestions could not be allowed to develop along entirely false and erroneous lines. One remedy for the disabled man was certainly to put him on the land, but he differed very much from the suggested way of doing it.

The Chairman—What is your proposal? It has been suggested that large tracts of land be acquired, and that troops of disabled men be put to work and live upon it. That will only lead to trouble. The Government, he continued, should set to work to reopen land purchase in Ireland, which was brought to an end in practice some time before the war and in theory at the beginning of the war. Then the disabled men could acquire land together with their families with non-economic holdings. It would be a big mistake to place ex-soldiers on land which families had been looking forward to being made economic holdings, and which had been promised to them for the last ten years. It was quite possible to fix disabled men on the land and at the same time be careful not to hurt the susceptibilities of people in the neighbourhood. The holders should have their land in the allocated time, and they could also bring in the soldier, treating them together. To treat them separately would lead to certain trouble. It could be quite a success if dealt with by experienced men, but he was afraid that the way in which the Government proposed to do it was a little wide of the mark.

The Committee adjourned.

NEWRY SINN FEINERS AND PEACE CELEBRATIONS.

Last night a public meeting was called in Newry to consider in what manner the peace celebrations on 19th July should be observed. A large number of Sinn Feiners interrupted the meeting, and an amendment was declared carried, objecting to the holding of any peace celebrations in the town.

PARLIAMENT.

THE FINANCE BILL.

DUTY ON TEA TO CONTINUE.

The Finance Bill was considered in Committee in the House of Commons yesterday, Mr. Whitley in the chair.

On Clause 1, which reimposes the Customs duties first imposed in the Finance Act of 1915,

Sir Ryland Adkins moved that these duties should be reimposed only until 30th September next, instead of until 1st August of next year. He said that these taxes were imposed by Mr. McKenna as a war measure, and they should not remain any longer than was necessary. The Chancellor of the Exchequer should do nothing to give countenance to the notion that he was laying the foundation of some new fiscal system, and he should avoid the appearance of evil by getting rid of war taxes at the earliest possible moment.

Sir A. Williamson seconded. He thought that the continuance of these taxes represented a policy, and there should be a short time fixed for their termination.

MR. CHAMBERLAIN.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he had no idea in continuing these taxes of raising any fiscal controversy. The conditions which existed in 1915 still prevailed, even though fighting had ceased, and he proposed to continue the taxes for a year, without desiring thereby to commit himself, or anyone else, to a fiscal or trade policy for the future. They might be expected to yield a revenue of nearly two million pounds. He held that the war had proved the necessity of some change in our fiscal policy, but he asked the Committee not to prejudge that question now. The time had not yet come. They could not decide their fiscal or trade policy on a narrow issue of two or three duties of this kind. When they had decided what their policy was to be, then the fiscal measures embodied in the Budget would have to conform to that policy. Hon. members need be under no apprehension that they were committing themselves to a particular policy by continuing these duties for another year.

Captain Wedgwood Benn said that this was the parting of the ways for Free Traders and Protectionists, and they had now to decide on which side they stood. The reasons why the duties were originally imposed had ceased to exist, and they should now be withdrawn. In their operation the duties impeded trade, and their continuance amounted to Protection.

Sir Donald Maclean said that the idea of the amendment was to continue the purely temporary character for which these taxes were imposed. A more dangerous invitation to Free Traders had never been given than that of the Chancellor that they should concur in the imposition of the taxes for another year. These were sumptuary taxes, the reason for which had now disappeared, and Free Traders would be done for if they accepted them as imposed in the Budget. It would be extremely difficult to retrace their steps later.

Mr. France agreed that a date should be fixed when these taxes would cease to operate.

Mr. A. Williams said that the intentions of the Chancellor of the Exchequer were made absolutely clear when he introduced the Budget, and, as a Free Trader, he felt bound to vote for the amendment.

Mr. Tom Shaw said that the Labour Party were going to vote consistently for Free Trade, because they believed that it was the best fiscal policy for this country.

Mr. G. Lambert said that he could not conceive why the Chancellor of the Exchequer wished to continue these taxes, unless he had a permanent fiscal policy in view. If the right hon. gentleman really wished to restrict the importation of motor cars from America, he could drop these taxes, and leave restriction to the Board of Trade, who had absolute power in that matter.

Lord Robert Cecil said that he regarded it as fantastic to suggest that these duties, first imposed by Mr. McKenna, were part of a policy of protection. He adhered to the necessity for economy. They were on the eve of a financial disaster on the Continent of incredible gravity. This country might get through it, or it might not, but anyone who wasted was doing a serious injury to the welfare of this country. He should certainly support the Government.

Mr. Acland supported the amendment.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he wanted to preserve the right of the House to consider these duties at the next Budget, but if it would relieve hon. members he would substitute the date of the 1st of May, 1920. He was anxious that the supporters of the Government should agree, and with that view he had responded to a request to alter the date so as to distinguish these duties and mark them as provisional, and duties which the Government would reconsider at an early date.

Sir Ryland Adkins accepted the substitution of 1st May as the date when the taxes should lapse for 30th September.

The House divided on the amendment thus amended, which was agreed to by 257 to 75.

THE DUTY ON TEA.

Mr. Arnold moved an amendment to omit the duty on tea. He said that he wished to see the tea duty abolished altogether. It was a thoroughly bad tax, being both inequitable in its incidence and economically unsound. It was taking £11,000,000 a year out of the pockets of the poorer classes in respect of what was a necessary of life.

Mr. Spencer supported the amendment.

Mr. Baldwin said that the time had not come when we could sweep away a source of revenue which brought in so large a sum as the tea duty.

Mr. Hogge complained that while the tea duty was maintained the excess profits duty had been halved.

Mr. Charles Edwards asserted that the tea tax was wrong from top to bottom.

Mr. Clynes maintained that the tea duty ought not to be continued at such a high level. Now that the war was over there ought to be a substantial reduction at once.

The amendment was negatived by 208 votes to 55.

On the motion that Clause 1 stand as part of the bill,

Captain Wedgwood Benn accused members who called themselves Free Traders of having been parties to a bargain by which the Chancellor had got everything he intended to get by the continuation of the new import duties. He urged the Committee now to a protective tariff, and to the policy of tieing the Colonies to this country by monetary considerations. Was it surprising that people outside regarded the whole thing as a fraud?

Mr. Chamberlain said the last speaker was merely piqued because the division on the first amendment went so heavily against his party.

Sir Donald Maclean said that whether Sir Ryland Adkins intended it or not the result of his amendment had been to leave the issue in a very muddled position, and the Tariff Reformers had scored a most important point on the injurious road of tariff reform.

Upon a division the clause was carried by 212 to 55.

THE DUTY ON BEER.

Upon Clause 5, which increases the excise duty on beer,

The Chancellor of the Exchequer, replying to complaints from Colonel Gretton and Sir G. Younger in regard to the quality of beer being brewed, said that no exception had been taken to the tax, and he could not help noticing that after his Budget statement there was no fall in brewery shares. (Hear, hear.) Brewers had been very successful in conforming to the necessities imposed on them by the war, and had been able to produce palatable beer within the limits allowed.

The clause was agreed to, and the debate was adjourned.

THE IRISH HOUSING BILL.

The report of the financial resolution authorising expenditure under the Housing of the Working Classes (Ireland) Bill was agreed to, the Attorney-General for Ireland stating that the Chief Secretary had agreed tentatively to the State contributing 25s. for every £1 expended by the local authorities.

MR. CHURCHILL AND THE "DAILY HERALD."

Mr. Churchill, in a long reply to a question put by Mr. Lunn, said that during the war the War Office purchased papers from the Canteen Fund for the men, and the Daily Herald was included amongst the papers purchased, but it was found—and he said so—that this paper was deliberately attempting to foment discontent in the Army and to encourage strikes and riots. He was surprised to learn that the War Office itself had been unconsciously responsible, purchasing upwards of 60,000 of a paper which he had been compelled to characterise in these terms. He had received formal representations from the Commander-in-Chief of the Army on the Rhine and Sir Douglas Haig to the effect that harm was being done by the circulation of this paper, and that various instances of insubordination were directly attributable to its activities. Under these circumstances it was obviously quite impossible for the War Office to be responsible for the purchase of the Daily Herald, and instructions had been given that it should not be purchased. This did not mean that its circulation was prohibited or that men would be proceeded against for having it in their possession. It followed from this decision that some bundles of the paper should be destroyed. What he had said was without prejudice to any future action or proceedings which might be instituted.

The House adjourned at 11.50.

IRISH HOUSING.

THE BILL FURTHER AMENDED.

NEW COMMITTEE OF EXPERTS TO BE SET UP.

The Irish Housing Bill was again considered yesterday morning by a Standing Committee of the House of Commons, presided over by Mr. T. P. O'Connor.

Major Newman moved an amendment to insert "and other persons" after the words "houses for the working class." He would like an assurance that the houses built would be available not only for the manual worker, but also for the lower middle class, such as insurance agents, bank clerks, the small business man.

The Chief Secretary declined to accept the amendment, and said that he hoped that he would not be pressed for a definition of the working class. The local authorities had had no practical difficulty in defining it in the past. The local authorities would have sufficient work to do, and the public funds would be sufficiently encroached upon if they did their duty under the bill in supplying houses for the working class.

The amendment was withdrawn.

ATTEMPT TO MAKE THE BILL RETROSPECTIVE.

Captain Redmond moved an amendment making the bill retrospective from the commencement of the war. The Attorney-General had made a promise to that effect on the second reading. Owing to the increase in cost, the ratepayers had incurred a loss where building schemes had been started during the war. Such schemes had only been started in Waterford, Pembroke, Blackrock, and Dublin. The amount that the Treasury would have to pay would be less than seven thousand a year. It was not fair to penalise public-spirited districts and benefit the negligent districts.

The Chief Secretary said that he regretted that he could not accept the amendment, with which he had every sympathy. A similar claim had been made in the case of Scotland, but the Treasury steadfastly adhered to the rules that they had laid down. He had no doubt that the Local Government Board, fearing unemployment, encouraged local authorities to carry on public works of this kind, but he did not understand that the Government had guaranteed any of the loss.

Mr. Devlin said that he much regretted the decision. It was a great pity that, for the sake of £6,000 a year, the Treasury should refuse to carry out a moral obligation. He considered that, now that this great scheme was being carried out, these public-spirited authorities who recognised the need for houses and employment, and took upon themselves the responsibility of building houses for the working classes, without much prospect of being recompensed, should now be relieved of their responsibility. Of course, if the right hon. gentleman took up the attitude that he did, and said that the Treasury would not yield, there was no more to be said.

The amendment was withdrawn.

Major Newman moved an amendment empowering the Local Government Board to appoint an additional Commissioner or Commissioners to enable them to carry into effect their duties under the bill.

Lieutenant-Colonel Walter Guinness said that he had a new clause, proposing the formation of five bodies of Housing Commissioners, one for each province, and one central body, including building and medical experts.

NEW IRISH HOUSING COMMITTEE.

The Chief Secretary said that he could accept neither proposal. He was often told that he was like a political Poo-Bah, as he had so many authorities under him.

Mr. Devlin—Forty-nine.

Mr. MacVeagh—Ali Baba and the Forty Thieves.

And now, added Mr. Macpherson, they proposed to add another. They would set up a Housing Committee of the Local Government Board, of which they would ask Mr. Cowan, the most distinguished housing specialist in the United Kingdom, to become the head. Other members would be Mr. Hugh Law, Mr. O'Conor, Local Government Board Inspector, and Mr. Deane, Chief Architect and member of the Royal Irish Institute of Architects. The Committee would be given a free hand.

Mr. Lynn complained that no Ulsterman was appointed.

Mr. Devlin said that it appeared to him that if an appointment was made that the Ulstermen had not made or controlled it set them in a perfect fury. Even on a question of building, practical knowledge, experience, and public sympathy with the objects of the scheme did not count at all. A man must come from Sandy Row or the Shankill road. They took care that they did not come from the Falls road. He protested against the insatiable appetite manifested that evening.

The amendment was withdrawn.

The discussion of the financial clause was postponed until the financial resolution was reported to the House.

THE ACQUISITION OF LAND.

Major Newman moved a series of amendments that land compulsorily acquired should be taken with due regard to the general situation, so as to diminish the value of the owner's property as little as possible, and all interference with the demesne and amenity of the landowner's residence; and that in any home farm or any land suitable for the erection of villas, shops, or large houses should be avoided. It was possible that a local authority might take part of a man's demesne or farm and destroy its amenities, just to let it to a few friends of theirs.

Mr. Devlin said that the proposal was largely in the interests of certain landlords, who very rarely lived in their mansions or used their lands. When they brought visitors to see the beauty of the country they did not want its æsthetic appearance destroyed by such eyesores as decent cottages. One Southern landlord said that the labourers' cottages had destroyed the landscape. In Ireland God made the land for the landlords, but man, including the British Parliament, ordained it otherwise, and the landlord would have to be satisfied with his fair share like anybody else.

Mr. Macpherson said that he could not accept most of the amendment, but he had down a new clause, that no part of a demesne or home farm should be compulsorily acquired.

The amendment was opposed by Mr. M'Guffin and Mr. Moles.

Mr. Lynn said that this was a bill for housing, not for preserving demesnes. The hon. members had not recognised that they lived in a democratic age.

Captain Dixon opposed the amendment, if no other land was available.

Major Newman withdrew his amendment on the understanding that the Chief Secretary would move his clause, with the addition of the words "where no other lands are available."

DERELICT LAND.

Mr. Kelly moved an amendment that an arbitrator should allow no compensation for any land which had lain waste and derelict for five years.

The Chief Secretary said that he had every sympathy with the attempt to get at men who had been holding up land which could be of great use to the community, but he was afraid that it would inflict hardship and injustice in the case of a man who before the war was preparing his land for building.

The amendment was negatived without a division.

An amendment by Mr. Macpherson permitting a local authority to have shares in a Public Utility Society over the present limit of £200 was agreed to.

Mr. Macpherson moved an amendment, giving local authorities power to make by-laws on the letting and occupation of the houses, the sanitary, water, and cooking accommodation, precautions against fire, and subletting.

The amendment was carried.

A number of amendments to the Small Dwellings Acquisition Act were carried.

On the motion of Mr. M'Guffin, the maximum market value of houses bought under the Act was raised to £800.

On a Government amendment proposing to increase the percentage on the value advanced from eighty to eighty-five per cent.,

Mr. Burn moved that the amount should be 95 per cent.

A compromise was reached by the figure of 90 per cent. being accepted.

The period for repayment, on the motion of Mr. Burn, was extended from thirty to fifty years.

New clauses were added to the bill in reference to the powers of dealing with land acquired, loans to private persons for the purpose of building working-class houses, loans for the improvement of housing, power of converting a house into several tenements, and similar matters.

DEMESNES AND HOME FARMS.

Mr. Macpherson moved a new clause, that no land which formed part of a demesne or home farm should be compulsorily acquired. The Government did not want, he said, to be vindictive towards any individual.

The clause was opposed by Mr. Devlin, who said that the Irish people were not such fools as to build worthless houses on a demesne for spite.

Captain Dixon suggested that a regulation should be issued and the clause withdrawn.

Mr. Macpherson accepted the suggestion, and said that he would issue a regulation that due regard should be paid to the amenities of a residence, and they should not be injured where other land was obtainable.

The clause was withdrawn.

A new clause moved by Captain Dixon, giving local authorities additional powers for borrowing and to receive money on deposit, was deferred for consideration until the report stage.

Amendments moved by Sir William Whitla and Mr. McGuffin, empowering local authorities to invest sinking funds in their own securities, were ruled out of order.

The Chairman pointed out that the Committee were unable to proceed with the amendments to the schedules until the financial clauses had been dealt with.

The Committee adjourned until to-day.

SPECIAL EXTRA.

SCAPA FLOW.

Reuter's Agency is officially informed, with reference to the charges made in the German Press, that the British used on defenceless German sailors at Scapa Flow, that the facts are, that the officers in command of the British trawlers ordered the German officers and men back to their ships in order to close the seacocks, and so prevent the German vessels from sinking. It was necessary in several cases to open fire upon the boats, as their occupants refused to obey orders. No men were ordered to board ships which obviously could not be saved. There was no act of violence against defenceless sailors; on the contrary, every assistance was given by the British to rescue those who were in danger, and only necessary precautions were taken to ensure obedience to orders. The German torpedo boat B 98 was detained pending instructions from the Allied Council in Paris, her crew being returned to Germany. The promise of safe conduct given to this vessel naturally depended upon the Germans themselves keeping the terms of the Armistice. As they did not do so, all contracts automatically ceased.

REVIVAL OF AN OLD IRISH ART.

MEZZOTINTING AT METROPOLITAN SCHOOL OF ART.

There has just been completed by Mr. George Atkinson, Headmaster of the Metropolitan School of Art, Dublin, a mezzotint of a portrait of the late Right Hon. Lord Justice Fitzgibbon, painted by Miss S. C. Harrison. The portrait is a remarkable likeness. The graceful official robes lend an added dignity to the stately figure, and enhance the decorative qualities of the portrait. While a splendid achievement in painting, it has been a suitable subject for mezzotint—the white lace and gold embroidery offering a wide range of sparkling lights against the dark robes and sombre background. Apart from other reasons, the matter is of interest because of the fact that this is the first mezzotint plate of importance that has been produced in Ireland since the 18th century. During the latter part of that century Ireland, and Dublin in particular, was renowned for mezzotinting, and was the recruiting ground for London mezzotinters. Many of the most delightful plates so popular and expensive at the present day were produced at this period. James MacArdell, Richard Houston, and their fellow-pupils, Spooner and Purcell, James Watson, Thomas Frye, and John Dixon showed themselves masterly exponents of the art in their engravings of pictures of Van Dyck, Rubens, and Lely, and of their contemporaries, Reynolds, Hudson, and Ramsay. The thirty-eight Reynolds' portraits engraved by MacArdell caused the delighted painter to remark that the engraver would immortalise him. To the uninitiated it may be explained that the beautiful velvety qualities of mezzotint are due to the process of what is technically known as "rocking" the copper plate in a great number of directions with a fine-toothed tool, producing a full black. The artist starts with a sheet of copper that has been well polished, and with his rocker prepares the ground. The outline of the design to be engraved is then transferred to the roughened metal, and afterwards by scraping away more or less of the roughness, according to the light or dark tones, the picture is developed, and the finished mezzotint produced. The Benchers of the King's Inn, for whom the plate has been prepared, are to be congratulated on availing themselves of Irish talent, and on affording an opportunity to that talent to display its qualities. Mr. Atkinson was a pupil of Sir Frank Short, R.A., P.R.E., the greatest of modern mezzotinters, whose work has charmed so many visitors to the Royal Hibernian Academy.

THAMES PEACE PROCESSION.

The Admiralty announce that in place of a procession on the Thames in connection with the peace celebrations on July 19th, there will be a special festival on Monday, August 4th, taking the form of a procession on the Thames, which will commemorate the linking up of the sea Services on August 4th, 1914.

BRITISH SOLDIERS' GRAVES IN GERMANY.

Mr. Churchill, replying to Commander Viscount Curzon in the House of Commons, said that the German Government had agreed to respect and maintain the graves of our soldiers and sailors who died as prisoners of war and were buried in Germany, and also, in order to meet the wish of those who did not desire that the bodies of their relatives should rest in German soil, it had further been agreed that in such cases any reasonable facility should be afforded for the removal of the bodies to their own country.

AWARD TO IRISH TEXTILE, YARN, AND BLEACHING WORKERS.

By an award of the Ministry of Labour workers engaged in the Irish textile, yarn, and bleaching trades are to receive an advance in the case of male and female workers, 18 years of age and over, of 2s. per week. This is applicable only to cases where the advance on pre-war wages did not amount otherwise to more than 23s. a week in the case of men, and 13s. a week in the case of women. In other cases, additional amounts shall be paid so as to bring the total advances on pre-war rates to 25s. and 15s. for men and women, respectively. The consideration of the claim referring to the Bleachers' and Finishers' Association was adjourned.

MEATH HOSPITAL AND COUNTY DUBLIN INFIRMARY.

ANNUAL DISTRIBUTION OF PRIZES.

The annual distribution of prizes at the Meath Hospital at the termination of the Winter Session, 1918-1919, took place yesterday. Lieutenant-Colonel Sir Lambert Ormsby, D.L., senior surgeon, presided. There were also present—Sir John Wm. Moore, D.L.; Oliver St. John Gogarty, Captain W. R. Dimond, house surgeon; Mr. Elmes, house physician; and a large number of students.

Sir John Moore, the senior physician, presented the following successful students with their prizes:—

Senior Hospital Prize—1st, John P. Morgan, also silver medal; 2nd, J. Fousner; 3rd, W. E. Shipsey.

Intermediate Hospital Prize—1st, Dorothy Stopford; 2nd, Joel Green.

Junior Hospital Prize—1st, Theobald Radloff; 2nd, Harold Hoffmeyer; 3rd, Arthur J. Levi.

Sir John Moore congratulated the prize winners very heartily on the excellence of the answering at this examination, and as one of the examiners he expressed his great satisfaction at the work done by the students, both at the prize examinations and also throughout the clinical work of the past session. The students, he said, realise to the full the importance of regular attendance at the hospital. He emphasised the great advantage of studying medicine and surgery at the bedside of the sick.

Sir Lambert Ormsby said he wished to associate himself with the remarks of Sir John Moore. The students had shown the greatest interest in their clinical work and at the prize examination, which had elicited answering of a very high order and very keen competition.

THE LATE MR. JOSEPH VAUGHAN, J.P.

The death occurred on Sunday last of Mr. Joseph Vaughan, of 7 Crosthwaite Park, W., Kingstown, at the advanced age of 81. Mr. Vaughan had retired from active work for some years, but previous to that had the management for half a century, as land agent, of several large properties in the Midland counties—notably that of the Incorporated Society for Promoting Protestant Schools in Ireland and the Trinity College estate. He was a member of the Church of Ireland, and took an active part in foreign missionary and temperance work, and various other Church organisations. About twelve years ago he came to reside in Kingstown, and sat as one of the Unionist representatives in the Urban Council until he was obliged by ill-health to resign. He leaves seven children surviving him, three sons and four daughters.

The funeral, which was private, took place yesterday at Dean's Grange Cemetery. The Service was conducted by the Rev. Canon Kennedy, the Mariners' Church, Kingstown, the chief mourners being Dr. J. Sherlock Vaughan and Mr. Herbert D. Vaughan (sons).

THE MARCONI CASE.

PROBABLE FUTURE CABLE RATES.

Mr. Frank J. Brown, an Assistant Secretary of the Post Office, was further examined in the arbitration proceedings on the Marconi Company's claim yesterday.

The witness said that he had reason to believe that the cable rates would shortly be reduced. There were agreements to that effect. Under these agreements the Australian rate for ordinary messages was due to be reduced from 3s. to 2s. 6d., and the Japanese rate from 5s. 11d. to 3s. 6d. These reductions were delayed until more normal conditions obtained. Taking past experiences into account, said the witness, there was not the remotest possibility that within the twenty-eight years of the contract the general telegraph traffic would have increased in the manner suggested by the Marconi Company unless the rates were reduced to some such level as that which the late Mr. Henniker Heaton used to suggest of 1d. or 2d. a word throughout the Empire.

The case was adjourned.

HOUSING AND TOWN PLANNING BILL.

The House of Lords yesterday went into Committee on the Housing and Town-Planning Bill.

On Clause 1, which makes local authorities responsible for the preparation of housing schemes,

The Marquis of Salisbury moved that schemes submitted to the Local Government Board shall contain the total estimated cost of the scheme, the estimated rent obtainable, and the estimated economic deficit resulting from the scheme and the portion of that deficit to be charged upon the rates.

The Lord Chancellor said that in the opinion of the Government the amendment was neither happily conceived nor was it likely to secure the objects noble lords had in view.

After further discussion the amendment was carried without a division.

The Lord Chancellor accepted an amendment moved by Lord Salisbury, providing that any scheme shall take into account and, as far as possible, preserve existing erections of architectural, historic, or artistic interest, and shall have regard to the natural amenities of the locality.

Other amendments having been disposed of, the debate was adjourned.

The House rose at 7.40.

ROYAL HIBERNIAN MILITARY SCHOOL.

perience after 30 years of regimental life, and it had been proved, as he thought, by the cordial greeting one always got from old soldiers of one's own regiment, even those whom it might have been sometimes found necessary to deal with severely. (Applause.) The war, proceeded Sir Frederick Shaw, is now over. Thank God, it has been successful. (Applause.) We have paid highly for our success, and there are few of us here to-day who have not to mourn some irreparable loss. But their efforts have not been in vain. The peace is a glorious one, and it has set this country on a pinnacle such as no nation in the world has ever attained before. This great peace has been made possible by the development of these qualities—duty, discipline, and loyalty—which I have set before you, and of which we have such a conspicuous example in the brave and determined soldier and skilful commander whom we are honoured by having over us as Lord Lieutenant of this island. (Applause.) His dogged determination and consummate skill in the early stages of this war, when the country was in such great peril, is responsible more than anything else for the position in which we now stand in the world. (Applause.) But, though the war is over, there are anxious and difficult times in front of us, and to those of you who are now going out into the world I say that upon you and upon your generation will depend the development of the peace and the future prosperity of the country. (Hear, hear.) To all of you I say be loyal, before all things, to your officers, to your masters, and to yourselves, and to those of you who are now going out in the world let your motto also be "Loyalty before all things." Be loyal to those over you, to those under you, and to those alongside of you, and add to this the virtue of unselfishness, which will enable you to strive for others as well as for yourselves. (Applause.) Concluding, Sir Frederick referred to the old boys who were there that day. Many who were educated at that school had paid the last penalty, or had been wounded or died of disease in the war. Many had been maimed, but the honours list was a long one, and it proved the value of the education and training which these old boys had received there. He regretted the loss of those who had fallen. He thoroughly congratulated those who had returned with honour, and he further congratulated the school on the long list of honours which had been obtained. (Applause.)

The National Anthem was then sung, following which the entire company repaired to the parade ground, where the ceremony of trooping the Colour was performed under the most pleasing circumstances. The scene was a picturesque one as the boys in their bright uniforms and bands playing formed up for inspection. The weather was beautifully fine, and the surroundings lent themselves effectively to the ceremonial. Sir Frederick Shaw having inspected the boys, the trooping of the Colour followed. The smartness and precision which marked the evolutions of the 400 odd boys taking part was a matter for general admiration. The march past in companies and quarter-column was also efficiently carried out, the whole terminating with the general salute, taken by Sir Frederick Shaw at the saluting base. The day's proceedings ended with a successful gymnastic display.

STRIKE OF AGRICULTURAL LABOURERS.

Unrest among agricultural labourers is reported in different parts of Ireland. It is estimated that 150 labourers are on strike at Eyrecourt, and Lawrencetown, Co. Galway; that 120 men have ceased work at Buttevant, and that 310 workers have refused to continue their pursuits in Newbridge, Co. Kildare. It is also stated that virtually the whole of Kildare is affected—Rathangan district excepted—and that the trouble has spread as far as Dunlavin, Co. Wicklow. Settlements have been reached in some instances in districts in the County Meath, as a result of the wages of the farm labourers having been fixed at 35s. a week.

THE CHURCH OF IRELAND.

THE CENTRAL EMERGENCY FUND.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

Sir,—We shall be obliged if you will publish the following statement as to progress made:—

Paragraph 2 of the scheme adopted by the General Synod is as follows:—

The General Synod, therefore, calls upon the lay members of each Diocesan Council to form themselves into Diocesan Committees, with such additional lay members as they shall see fit to co-opt, not exceeding five, to collect as large a sum of money as possible. Contributions to this fund to be either a donation or subscription payable for five years.

On the 23rd May the following circular was sent to every Diocesan Council:—

We have pleasure in sending you the enclosed copy of a resolution passed unanimously at the recent meeting of the General Synod, Dublin. May we very earnestly ask you to bring it before the lay members of your Diocesan Council at the earliest possible moment? The needs are very great, and we believe the laity of our Church will not be backward in helping the movement which so intimately concerns not only the welfare but the honour of our Church. Should any movement have been already started in your diocese for the improvement of the finances of your own clergy, may we venture to express the hope that, for the sake of the Church as a whole, you will also take part in this wider and Central Fund? If it is to succeed, it will require a strenuous and united effort to reach every layman in your diocese.

Committees of laymen have been formed in the dioceses of Armagh, Kilmore, Elphin, Ardagh, Tuam, Killala and Achonry, Cork, Killaloe East, and Clonfert. The Councils of Clogher, Meath, Ossory, Ferns, Leighlin, Cashel, Limerick, and Ardfert have the matter still under consideration. The Council of Killaloe West have decided to take no action. No replies have been received from the Councils of Derry, Down, and Dublin, but it is understood in the case of the latter that the matter is under consideration.

The success of the scheme must depend mainly upon the energy and enthusiasm displayed by the laity who form the committees.

Paragraph 3 of the scheme is as follows:—

The allocation of the money received towards this Central Fund to be made according to diocesan needs by a Committee of Laymen appointed by the Synod, representatives of each diocese making a collection.

So far, we have not received any names of laymen appointed to act on this committee.

Although the collection of money is by the Synod scheme specifically committed to the Diocesan Committees, the Honorary Secretaries and Treasurer intend to use their personal exertions, and will be glad to receive subscriptions direct to any one of their number.—Yours, etc.

THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

INSTALLATION OF REV. W. H. McCRACKEN, M.A.

On Tuesday the Rev. W. H. McCracken, M.A., lately minister in the United States of America, was installed in the pastoral oversight of the Presbyterian congregations of Nenagh and Borrisokane. The Service was conducted in the pretty little church at Nenagh by the Rev. Robert K. Hanna, Moderator of Presbytery; the Rev. H. P. Glenn, and the Rev. James Wilson, of Birr. In the absence of the Clerk of Presbytery, Mr. Alexander Gray, elder, acted as Clerk. There was a very good attendance of members and friends of the congregation. At the close of the proceedings the members of Presbytery were hospitably entertained to luncheon. The hearty good wishes of the whole Presbyterian community will accompany Mr. McCracken in taking over the work carried on during a number of years so faithfully and successfully by the late Rev. R. Sempie.

PEACE NIGHT IN DUBLIN.

W.R.A.F. CLAIMS FOR MALICIOUS INJURY.

Yesterday, at the fortnightly meeting of the North Dublin Rural District Council, Mr. P. Baggot, J.P., presiding, notices of intention to apply for compensation for criminal injury to the person were served on the Council by the Chief Crown Solicitor on behalf of the following members of the Women's Royal Air Force stationed at Gormanston:—Jean Florence Perry, Jennie Murphy, Kathleen McDonnell, Clara Gibney, Elizabeth Geraghty, Bridget Daly, Estella B. Porter, Lilian Douglas, Hilda Sinton, Winifred Ryan, and Margaret Kelly. In each case the claim is for £20 as compensation for having been maliciously injured at Sackville street, Dublin, on the 28th June "while in the execution of duty as a member of the Women's Royal Air Force."

A notice of claim for £50 under similar circumstances was lodged on behalf of Acting Corporal Gale, R.A.F., and a preliminary notice was served on behalf of the President of the Air Council of his intention to apply for £167 compensation for damage to a Leyland motor lorry which was, on the 28th June, at Sackville street, "maliciously broken up, burned, and destroyed."

The Clerk having informed the Council of the notices, Mrs. Guinness remarked that she "did not know what the country was coming to."

Mr. L. J. O'Neill, solicitor to the Council, said that the new Malicious Injury Act was very serious thing. Any officer of the Crown injured, was entitled to compensation, and a policeman in Cork the other day got £2,500.

Mrs. Guinness—Quite right, too. It is the only way to bring it home to the people that this kind of thing cannot be allowed. The idea of a rebel in Dublin attacking eleven women is a most serious thing.

Mr. Trench—It occurred in O'Connell street?

Mr. O'Neill, solicitor—Yes. The whole of it should be put on the city, but the Recorder might put some of it on the North Dublin R.D.C.

Mr. O'Neill was instructed to represent the Council at the hearing of the applications before the Recorder on the 29th September.

DUBLIN PRINTING TRADE DISPUTE.

A conference was held at the Mansion House yesterday, under the presidency of the Lord Mayor, in connection with the printing dispute in Dublin, at which were present representatives from the Dublin Master Printers' Association, the Typographical Association, and the Printing and Kindred Trades Alliance. Mr. T. Foran and Mr. W. O'Brien, who were parties to the agreement between the Master Printers and the Typographical Association entered into last October, were also present, on the invitation of the Lord Mayor. After a discussion, which lasted six hours without a settlement being come to, it was suggested that the matters in dispute be left to arbitration, and that the men should resume work in the meantime, the terms of reference to be settled at a further meeting to be held on Friday. This proposal will be placed before the associations of the employers and workers for ratification.

SUMMER ASSIZES.

COUNTY WESTMEATH.

THE ATHLONE HAY-BURNING.

The Lord Chief Justice, sitting in Mullingar on Monday at the Westmeath Summer Assizes, heard an appeal of the Roscommon County Council and the Athlone Urban Council against the decree of the County Court Judge granting to the Secretary of State for War £1,579 16s. 9d. compensation for the alleged malicious burning of a quantity of hay in the Athlone Military Barracks on the night of 5th May.

Head Constable Feeney stated that on the evening of the 5th May there was a concert under the auspices of the local Sinn Fein club, at which Mr. Ginnell, M.P., was announced to speak. The concert was proclaimed, and there was much excitement. A party of military took possession of the hall in which the concert was to have been held at 6 o'clock. There was a bayonet charge—it could scarcely be called a bayonet charge—in the Market square. Only one person was hurt, who got a slight scratch. A dance was held in the courthouse afterwards, at which some military were present. A crowd assembled, and someone said, "We will proclaim the dance." Stones were thrown, and a constable with witness was hit. He had to be conveyed to the courthouse, where the dance was being held. A lady there attended to the wound. Another window was broken on the same night.

Further evidence having been given, and counsel having addressed the Court,

His Lordship delivered judgment. He would have to confirm the decree given in the court below, but he would reduce the amount given by the establishment charges, which would make the award £1,521 16s. 4d. In regard to a point raised by Mr. Murphy concerning the likelihood of spontaneous combustion, it was a very good one, and he would look into it, and if he did not agree he would state a case on the point when he had looked into his previous decisions.

COUNTY MEATH.

CASES OF MALICIOUS INJURY.

The Commission of Assize for the County Meath was opened in Trim on Monday by Mr. Justice Pim, who presided in the Crown Court, and Mr. Justice Gordon, who sat in the Appeal Court.

Addressing the Grand Jury, Mr. Justice Pim said that there were only four cases to go before them, none of which required any remarks from him. About the special crimes reported, there was an increase of three over last year. He was sorry to say that two or three were of that most despicable class of crime—malicious injury. Many of these crimes did not hurt the man upon they were done, but they threw a number of unmerited fines on the innocent people of the county.

COUNTY CLARE.

GRAND JURY'S TRIBUTE TO ROYAL IRISH CONSTABULARY.

The Clare Summer Assizes were opened yesterday by Lord Justice O'Connor.

Addressing the Grand Jury, his lordship said that there was only one bill to be sent before them. A man named Mills was charged with taking part in an unlawful assembly for the purpose of intimidating a man from working for his employer. There were a number of cases that, in the ordinary course of events, would have come before them, but had been transferred by direction of the Attorney-General to another venue. There were also a number of cases which, under ordinary circumstances, would have come before them, but which had been tried by a military tribunal under the Defence of the Realm Regulations. He was sorry to say that there had been reported a recrudescence of outrage, committed in connection with agrarian disputes. There had been nine cases of firing into dwellinghouses—a most serious offence. And there had been 26 cases of threatening letters. He was informed by the County Inspector that all those arose out of agrarian disputes, and the last incident of this kind was, perhaps, the worst. He referred to the outrage that took place in the early hours of Monday morning. There was a farm near Kilfenora which, he believed, had given rise to many outrages owing to family disputes about ownership of the land, and on Monday morning, while two policemen were patrolling the district for the purpose of guarding the person lawfully entitled to the farm, his life, and property, they were set upon and shot by a number of men. He did trust that the decent public opinion of Clare would rally to the side of the authorities in the endeavour to prevent and suppress crime of this kind. He was informed that the people of the locality—he meant, of course, the people apart from the miscreants—deeply deplore and reprobate the outrage, and he was sure that they would have the feeling of the country at large with them. He hoped that when the Judge of Assize would come around again this agrarian trouble would have ceased, or, if it had not ceased altogether, that it would have greatly diminished.

Mr. R. M. Hennessy, K.C., applied to have the case of William Considine, charged with stabbing Pat Carmody, Rate Collector and Relieving Officer, sent to the next Assizes, as Carmody, who was the principal witness, was yet ill in bed, suffering from a bad wound. The application was acceded to.

The case of Edward Mills, Killaloe, charged with intimidation, was also adjourned on an affidavit by County Inspector Gelston, that in the present circumstances a fair and impartial trial of the case could not be had in Co. Clare. This ended the Crown business.

Before the Grand Jury were discharged, the foreman handed the following resolution to his lordship:—

"Proposed by Colonel Tottenham, seconded by Mr. W. W. Fitzgerald—That the High Sheriff and Grand Jury of Co. Clare desire to express their admiration for the splendid conduct of the Royal Irish Constabulary in the discharge of their duties in the present trying and disturbed times and their warm sympathy with the relatives of those who have lost their lives or suffered in doing so; and have pleasure in subscribing the sum of £61 14s. towards Colonel Sir William Hutcheson Poe's fund as a token of their cordial approval and sympathy."

Lord Justice O'Connor expressed his concurrence with the resolution, and said that he would have it forwarded to the proper quarter.

KING'S COUNTY.

A LIGHT CALENDAR.

The Summer Assizes for King's County were opened at Tullamore on Monday by the Right Hon. Mr. Justice Dodd, who presided in the Crown Court. The Right Hon. Mr. Justice Moore sat in the Record Court.

His Lordship, addressing the Grand Jury, said that there was only one bill to go before them, a bill for unlawful assembly. They had a good deal of experience, unfortunately, in that kind of indictment. The County Inspector of King's County had assured him that the county was in a peaceful condition. It might be that the police had something to do with that.

In a case in which several men were indicted for unlawful assembly at Mountlucas, Rhode, King's County, on the 25th April, and pleaded guilty, his Lordship said that he recognised in the plea of guilty an obedience to the law, and sentenced the defendants to three months' imprisonment without hard labour, in the second division. The sentence would not be put into execution if the county continued to remain quiet.

The accused were then discharged.

COUNTY LONGFORD.

ATTACK ON POLICE RECALLED.

The Longford Summer Assizes were opened in the Courthouse, Longford, yesterday, by Mr. Justice Gibson.

His Lordship, addressing the Grand Jury, said that there were only two cases to go before them, and the Grand Jury would find no difficulty in dealing with them. As regards the general state of the county, a case had occurred which was of a more serious character than anything reflected by the calendar of the present Assizes. When two policemen were returning from their duty on the 27th April they were stopped by five or six men on the road. One of the policemen was pulled off his bicycle, and the other was thrown to the ground. One of the men charged with attacking the police was being tried by courtmartial, and the other man, it appeared, was still in the County Infirmary, and he did not know when that man's case would come on.

COUNTY WICKLOW.

A CHARGE OF FALSE PRETENCES.

At Wicklow Assizes on Monday James Charles Dodd, alias John Macpherson, was, by direction of Lord Justice Ronan, acquitted of the charge of obtaining several sums of money from residents of Bray under false pretences, by representing himself to be an authorised collector in aid of the Comrades of the Great War.

BABY FETE AND CHILDREN'S FOLK-DANCING FESTIVAL.

A Baby Fête and Children's Folk-Dancing Festival will be held, under the auspices of the Women's National Health Association of Ireland, at the Iveagh Grounds (by kind permission of Viscount Iveagh) this afternoon at 4 o'clock. The Marquis and Marchioness of Aberdeen and Temair will be present, and music will be supplied by the band of the Artane School.

SALE OF OLD SILVER AND JEWELS.

High prices were realised at Messrs. Bennett and Son's salerooms yesterday, when a number of interesting pieces of old silver were offered for sale, portion by direction of the trustees of the late Lord Massy. A pair of chased oblong waiters, Geo. III., brought 267 guineas; a 21-inch circular tray, Dublin, 1775, £214; a plain two-handle cup, Dublin, 1718, £60 10/-; a George III. tea service, £77 11/-; a George III. centrepiece, £64 3/-; a plain cup and cover, Dublin, 1735, £115 17/-. The jewels excited keen competition, a diamond festoon necklet reaching 770 guineas; a sapphire and diamond three-stone ring, 105 guineas; a diamond half-hoop ring, 94 guineas; an emerald and diamond cluster do., 147 guineas; a brilliant Maltese cross, 210 guineas; a pair of old Brazilian earrings, 330 guineas; a diamond tiara, 367 guineas; a two-stone diamond ring, 105 guineas; a three-stone bar brooch, 66 guineas; a diamond pendant and pair of ear-rings en suite, 180 guineas; and a pair of single-stone diamond ear-rings, 228 guineas. The sale will be continued to-day. The catalogue contains an interesting collection of old furniture, cut glass, decorative porcelain, miniatures, and bijouterie.

SUGAR—Spot steady.

COTTON opened firm, 22 to 26 points higher, on firm cables, foreign buying, and expected heavier exports, then eased on a forecast of favourable weather and Wall street selling. Another rally followed on spot houses buying, but was offset by Southern selling, bear pressure, and the unsatisfactory spot situation. Subsequently, on renewed foreign buying, prices re-advanced, and the market closed very steady, 19 to 43 points up. Spot quiet at 40 points rise. New Orleans spot 15 points down. WHEAT, on spot featureless. No. 2 red winter, spot, nominal; No. 2 hard winter, spot, nominal.

CORN opened irregular, ½c. to ½c. higher. July option was depressed by labour troubles and larger receipts, but other months advanced on small country offerings, adverse Argentine reports, and covering of shorts. Then all positions rose under bull support, and, owing to stocks being small, selling by commission houses followed, due to favourable crop accounts; but the market soon recovered, on predictions of decreased receipts and higher cash markets. Realising in the late dealings caused partial recessions, and the market closed irregular, 3½c. to ½c. up. July, 193½; September, 192½; December, 161½.

OATS firm, ½c. to ½c. dearer. July, 71½; September, 72; December, 73½.

PROVISIONS opened easy, and declined for a time under realising and local selling; but recovered, and advanced later in unison with corn, also on covering of shorts and investment buying. The market closed steady, with lard 2½ to 7½ higher, pork 10 up to unchanged, and ribs 17½ to 5 points dearer. Lard—July, 35.20; September, 35.30; October, 35.15. Pork—July, 54.00; September, 51.30. Ribs—July, 28.75; September, 28.75.

YOUNG WOMAN SHOT DEAD.

A Leicester correspondent says:—A young woman named Anne Bella Wright, 21, was found shot on Saturday night in a country lane near Leicester. Near by was her bicycle. On Monday a bullet was found in the road, and the doctor believes that the bullet passed through the girl's brain. A further examination showed a punctured wound in her face, with corresponding wounds on the top of the head. It is surmised that she was shot while on the bicycle.

A Madrid telegram, dated Tuesday, says:—The train conveying to Santander the Royal Guard and the personnel of the Royal stables, has been derailed near Avila. A railway worker received slight injuries. A motor car and some carriages were considerably damaged.

LEINSTER SENIOR SCHOOLS' LEAGUE—FINAL.

KING'S HOSPITAL v. EARLSFORT HOUSE SCHOOL.

After leading by 41 runs on the first wicket, King's Hospital only won at Rathmines yesterday after a very exciting finish by four runs. Earlsfort, in their second innings, topped their first by one run, Medcalf and Jeffares (who also did well in the first) making a good stand for the fourth wicket. Featherstonhaugh and Rooney bowling well. Left with only 25 runs to win, the Hospital lost 3 wickets for 8 runs, while four more fell with the score at 12. Eight were down for 21, when the winning hit was got, and all were out for 28. The losers, who were much the younger and smaller side, deserve great credit for the splendid fight, their ground fielding and catching being really first class, Medcalf (3), Ruddle, and Jeffares bringing off fine catches. At the finish Miss Crany presented the cup and medals to the winners. Score:—

PEMBROKE v. UNIVERSITY COLLEGE.

Pembroke had an easy victory over University College yesterday at Sydney Parade by 40 runs. Batting first, the 'Varsity occupied the wicket just under two hours for a total of 93. Pembroke made a bad start, losing half their wickets for 30 runs. On Treacy and McGrath coming together, however, a capital stand was made, the College total being passed, and the score advanced to 120 before a separation was effected. Treacy batted splendidly for 53, which included 9 fours, while McGrath got 30. The innings eventually closed for 133. Score:—

YORKSHIRE v. ESSEX.

INNINGS' WIN FOR YORKSHIRE.

At Hull Essex, with a deficit of 135 runs, followed on. They made a wretched start in opposition to Waddington and Robinson, Major Trick giving Hirst a simple leg-side catch with the score at 4. Freeman was smartly stumped at 15, Russell falling to a leg catch at 33. The Southerners never recovered, six wickets being down for 37, and just before one o'clock Yorkshire won by an innings and 56 runs. Score:—

WORCESTERSHIRE v. SOMERSETSHIRE.

A DRAW.

Somerset gave a reasonably good batting display at Worcester yesterday, and, thanks to the efforts of A. S. Reppon, Hope, and Robson, they reached an aggregate of 240. Worcestershire were thus set to get 210 to win. Bowley tried hard to put his side in a winning position, and had he stayed the result would not have been in doubt, but at 76 he was leg before for an excellent 50, and although Jewell and Pearson played well the side were hopelessly in arrears at the end, but a timely defence by Bale and Harry staved off defeat, and the game was left drawn. INTER-'VARSITY MATCH.

OXFORD v. CAMBRIDGE.

Dull cheerless weather again prevailed at Lords yesterday, but 10,000 spectators witnessed the cricket, which went considerably in favour of Oxford. Beginning their innings first thing, Cambridge did extremely well before lunch. Wood and Johnstone, by careful but admirable batting, scored 116 in an hour and 50 minutes. Wood made some excellent drives, but was not so forceful as usual. At lunch the score stood at 124 for one wicket, but after the interval the game underwent a marked change. A misunderstanding between the batsmen lost Naumann's wicket, and after that, with Pearse and Naumann bowling with considerable skill, 8 wickets were down for 207. Prior to that Johnstone, batting finely, stayed in until 156, being fourth out. He was batting for two hours and a half for a well-played 78, which included 10 fours. Morrison looked like settling down when he was brilliantly caught in the deep field, and, with only two wickets left, Cambridge still wanted 21 to avert the follow on. At this juncture Fairbairn and Rotherham made a plucky stand, hitting so well as to add 68 in 45 minutes, and Fairbairn took out his bat for 47, after being in 75 minutes. The innings closed for 280, or 107 behind, having lasted four hours and 20 minutes. After lunch nine wickets fell for 123. An hour and a half remained for play when Oxford went in for the second time, and, by scoring 98 for three wickets, they secured a lead of 205 with 7 wickets in hand. Score:—

HAMPSHIRE v. SURREY.

An even and interesting day's cricket was witnessed at Southampton yesterday in the match between Hampshire and Surrey. The home team, batting first on a fairly fast wicket, compiled the satisfactory total of 315, thanks to two prolific partnerships. The first was between Mead and Newcombe, the latter being a name assumed for private reasons by an amateur who assisted Hampshire frequently before the war, and the second between Commander Evans and Kennedy. Mead and his partner scored 139 in an hour and 40 minutes for the fourth wicket. The professional, who never made a bad stroke, hit 14 fours, and was bowled by a ball which broke his middle stump in half. Newcombe cut and drove splendidly, and registered 11 boundary strokes. Advantage gained by these two batsmen looked like being lost until Evans joined Kennedy, and then in just over an hour the two added 103 for the eighth wicket. Surrey made light of the Hampshire bowling when they went in and got to within 73 of the home team's total for the loss of only two wickets. Hobbs and Harrison, the opening batsmen, remained together till 51 were scored, after which Harrison and Ducat put on 132 for the second wicket. Ducat, who was missed at backward point by Harrison when 39, completed his hundred in an hour and 25 minutes. Score:—

LAW REPORTS.

MOTION TO ATTACH.—Yesterday in the Chancery Division, before the Master of the Rolls, an application was made in the case of Goulding v. Clarke in relation to the administration of the estate of James Clarke, farmer, deceased, late of Brackenstown, Swords, Co. Dublin. Mr. Maguire (instructed by Messrs. Wm. Smyth and Son) applied on behalf of the plaintiff, Joseph Goulding, who resides at St. Patrick's terrace, North Strand, Dublin, to have re-committed to prison for non-compliance with orders of the Court, the defendant, who was stated to be a porter employed at the Balrothery Workhouse. Counsel stated that defendant was the personal representative of the deceased, who was his father. On the 1st July, 1918, he was ordered by the Court to file an account within four days. He did not obey the order, and was committed to Mountjoy Prison on 5th November. On the 14th November an order was made for his release on his undertaking to file the account within a month, but he had done nothing, said counsel, since then, and the entire administration of the estate had been held up. Mr. Arthur Clery (instructed by Mr. J. G. Lidwell), for the defendant, referred to his affidavit, which stated that the delay had not been through any disrespect for the order of the Court, but owing to the absolute impossibility of getting the necessary materials, vouchers, etc., and the account he now lodged was somewhat defective from the same cause. Defendant was illiterate, and had employed a professional accountant to prepare the account. The affidavit further stated that the defendant had only received his distribution share like the other next-of-kin. The matter was referred to the Chief Clerk to take the account.

KILKENNY WOOLLEN MILLS.—Yesterday, before the Master of the Rolls, in the matter of the Kilkenny Woollen Mills, Ltd., Mr. Sealy, K.C. (instructed by Mr. Michael Buggy), moved, under the Companies' Consolidation Act (1908) for an order of the Court confirming a resolution of the company reducing its capital, made up of £25,855, divided into 31,710 ordinary shares of 10/- each and 10,000 preference shares of £1 each, to £15,855, and that such reduction be effected by cancelling portion of the paid-up capital to the extent of £1 each on the preference shares. Counsel stated that the capital of the company was originally £15,000 of 15,000 £1 shares, but in June, 1908, it was raised to £25,000, and in the following September it was again raised by another £10,000. The ordinary and preference shares were paid for in cash. The company had power to reduce its capital, and accordingly in June, 1912, the capital was reduced by £10,000 under an order of Mr. Justice Barton. Again, on 15th October, 1918, at an extraordinary meeting of the shareholders it was decided to make another reduction of capital by a similar amount. At the time of the passing of that resolution, counsel said, the capital of the company was in excess of its wants by at least £10,000. The Master of the Rolls—Why is the capital being reduced? Mr. Sealy—In 1912 we were making considerable profits. Since the war began all these woollen companies had done well. In fact, anyone in Ireland engaged in the industry had become enormously wealthy. This was only a small private company, and they thought that this was the best way of applying the profits. The Master of the Rolls inquired how the reduction was to be effected. Mr. Sealy said by cancelling the paid-up capital to the extent of £1 on each of the preference shares and by returning to the holders of the preference shares the sum of £1 per share in paying off the capital already paid up. The Master of the Rolls—What do you expect the shareholders will say? Mr. Sealy—They have no powers; we will pay them off in full. His lordship made the order sought.

INJUNCTION GRANTED.—Yesterday, before the Master of the Rolls, Mr. Carson (instructed by Mr. J. Mulcair, Loughrea) applied on behalf of William A. Pearse, the plaintiff, for an order to restrain Duncan McAnish, Thomas McAnish, and Alexander McInnes (defendants) from cutting down timber on plaintiff's estate at Roxburgh, Loughrea, Co. Galway. Defendants are timber merchants, residing at Crieff, Scotland, and in 1916, plaintiff, through his agent, sold certain trees to the Government, for whom, it was stated, defendants cut and handled the timber. There was a time limit for the cutting and removal of the trees, at the expiration of which any trees that were then on the lands should revert to the plaintiff. Plaintiff, in his affidavit, stated that the trees sold to the Government through the Home Grown Timber Committee were to be removed on or before the 15th June, 1919, and that any of the trees remaining on the lands after that date were again to become the property of the vendor, notwithstanding the payment to him by the purchasers of the sum of £5,000. Defendants, after June 15th, had continued to cut and remove the timber. A writ of summons had been issued on July 4th and is now pending. The Master of the Rolls granted an ad interim injunction, directing that it be sent to the defendants by telegraph.

STRIKE OF SWEDISH SEAMEN.

On Saturday the strike declared by the Swedish Seamen's Union began all over Sweden. The dispute originated in the shipowners' refusal to meet the seamen's demand for an eight hour working day and a standard rate of pay on all ships under 700 tons in the Baltic and under 600 tons in the North Sea. The strike affects the entire Swedish commercial fleet. An Arbitration Commission has gone to Gothenburg to intervene in the dispute.

Thompson's Custard

IS SIMPLY DELIGHTFUL AND DELIGHTFULLY SIMPLE.

IF you are one of the few who have not yet tasted it you really must ask your grocer to send you a trial packet or tin to-day.

It will prove a revelation to you as it has done to others who—until they had used THOMPSON'S Custard Powder—thought they had tasted custard at its best.

It is a very suitable food as well as a prime luxury. One ounce added to a pint of milk multiplies its own weight in food value. And the flavour! The captivating flavour that it imparts to rhubarb, fruits, tarts, &c., places these dishes in quite another category. You just try it.

FINANCIAL PARAGRAPHS.

We understand that an issue at par of 250,000 7 p.c. Cumulative "A" Pref. Shares of £1 each of the International Tea Company's Stores, Ltd., will be made at the end of this week. The shares will rank for dividend and return of capital after the 1st Pref. Shares, which are entitled to a fixed Cum. dividend of 6 p.c. The company was formed in 1895 to acquire and develop the business carried on by Messrs. Kearley and Tonge as tea importers and general produce storekeepers in London and the provinces. Since its inception the business of the company has steadily increased, the trading profits having risen from £51,607 in the year ending 26th April, 1896, to £229,695 in the year ending 27th April, 1918. The average profit for the last seven years is sufficient, after paying the dividend on the 1st Pref. Shares, to pay the dividend on the shares about to be offered for subscription more than four times over, and this does not include the profits which will be earned by the proceeds of the forthcoming issue.

Tanganyikas continue in favour on dividend hopes in connection with the Union Miniere meeting, to be held in Brussels next Monday. Opinions differ regarding the size of the distribution to be made. All we know is (says the Pall Mall Gazette) that a portion of the Union Miniere profits has been handed over already to both the Tanganyika and the Zambesia Exploration Companies in respect of their shareholdings. In some quarters it is said that the coming declaration will not mean the handing over of much fresh money, while in other directions it is stated that a substantial return will be forthcoming. No clue to the exact amount can be obtained in London.

Rumour has been busy for some time past that the directors of the Burma Corporation contemplate reorganising the capital of the company. After the Victory Loan is out of the way it is probable that the proposed scheme will be submitted to the shareholders. It will provide, it is said, for the splitting of the shares into denominations of, perhaps, 5/-, and possibly for the acquisition of certain interests, which will, however, have no particular bearing on the company's future prospects.

Opposition is being offered to the Siddeley-Deasy absorption by the Armstrong Whitworth, with the result that the liquidation is delayed, and the obtaining of the requisite majority for liquidation is said to be in doubt. Tentative offers have been made to buy out the dissatisfied shareholders at about £2 10/- per share, but these offers are not being received with any enthusiasm (says the Evening Standard), shareholders, naturally, feeling that, as no balance sheet has been presented for several years, they are not in a position to arrive at an accurate valuation of the assets, though shrewdly suspecting that they are worth appreciably more than represented by the price offered.

It is stated that Burberry's, the weather-proof manufacturers, have purchased the whole of the share capital and assets of Messrs. H. J. Nicoll and Co., Ltd. The business of Messrs. Nicoll has been carried on by a private limited company trading as wholesale and retail tailors and outfitters. This purchase involves a sum of £500,000 sterling.

The transfer books of the Dublin United Tramways Company will be closed from the 16th to the 29th July, both days inclusive.

Messrs. Chossy, de Rougemont and Co., Ltd., of Lloyds, and 34 Clements lane, Lombard street, E.C., and Managers of "The Bell" Assurance Association at Lloyds, announce that they have appointed Mr. Alexander R. de Rougemont a director as from the 1st July.

IRISH CREAMERY MANAGERS' ASSOCIATION.

A largely-attended conference of the Irish Creamery Managers' Association was held at Limerick Junction on Saturday. The conference expressed strong disapproval of the giving of certificates or testimonials by members to unqualified managers who apply for vacancies. The following resolution was also adopted:—"That this conference is of opinion that the time has arrived when the Department of Agriculture and the Irish Agricultural Organisation Society should cease to spend public money in giving instruction at creameries which appoint managers who have not undergone the recognised course of training for the position, or have not a recognised certificate of competency."

IRISH CHEESE UNION AND CONTROL PRICES.

At a meeting of the Irish Cheese Union, held at Limerick Junction on Saturday, a resolution was passed protesting against the proposal of the Ministry of Food to pay for the month of July 1s. 8d. per lb. to the Irish makers for hard cheese whilst paying 2s. per lb. to English makers for equal grade and quality, and that the price of Caerphilly should be fixed on a parity with hard cheese, or otherwise a free market to be allowed, both as to price and distribution.

FINANCIAL NEWS

DUBLIN STOCK EXCHANGE.

COATS AND OILS ACTIVE AND GOOD.

There was a very fair business on 'Change yesterday, with points of interest the recovering tendency of Marconi Shares, the brisk demand for J. and P. Coats Ord., and the continued buoyancy and active dealing in leading Oil Shares, especially Mexican Eagles. The Funds continue on sale for exchange purposes. Banks marked time. Breweries, etc., were quiet and featureless. Marconi Shares, after yesterday's depression, recovered tone and tendency before the day was far advanced. Dunlop Rubber Ord. were just a little lower. Rails were quiet, and Dublin Trams remain sellers. Considerable interest was taken in J. and P. Coats Ord. Shares, which closed active and good. Continued support was given to English Sewing Cotton Ord. at top price. Mexican Eagle Oils were bid up to 8⅞, and closed at best point, City of Dublin Steam show no further price movement, but Furness Withy rose to 5 5/16.

In the Funds, etc., Consols fell ⅛ to 52⅛, and Irish Land 3 p.c. 1/16 to 58 1/16. War Loan 5 p.c. marked 93⅞, and by Deed 1/16 less at 93 13/16. War Loan 3½ p.c. realised 87½. Belfast Corporation 3½ p.c. (1935) Stock changed hands at 76½.

Banks were quietly steady, with Nationals 1/16 better at 21. Bank Stock repeated 219, and Munsters and Leinsters 10¼.

In Breweries, etc., Guinness Ord. fell ¼ to 38¾, while Dublin Distillers Ord. repeated 47s. Steam Stocks closed unaltered. City of Dublin repeated 235, and the Pref. 95½.

In Telegraphs, Marconi Ord. opened good at 108s. 9d., and rose to 110s. 7½d. later. The Pref. repeated 95s., and Americans 31s.

Home Railways were scarcely altered. Dublin and South-Eastern rose ¼ to 14¼. Midland Great Western, at 31, the 4 p.c. Debs., at 66. Great Northern, and Great Southern and Western Pref., at 70, and the latter company's Deb. Stock, at 75, show no change. Dublin and Kingstown Leased Line changed hands at 127.

In Trams, Dublin United Ord. marked 7¼, and the "B" 3½ p.c. Debs. 70.

Among Dunlop issues, Dunlop Rubber Ord. opened 2s. 6d. lower at 158s. 9d., but later 160s. was paid. Parent Ord. realised 24s. 1½d., and the Pref. 16s. 3d.

In Drapery Shares, Pim Brothers Ord. changed hands at 7¼.

Among Manufacturing Shares, Textiles met with attention, especially Coats Ord., which were extensively dealt in at 8 11/16 to 8¾, and closed ⅛ higher at 8¾. Dyers improved 3d. to 44s. 3d., and Cotton Ord., at 87s., were firm. Gouldings repeated 8¾. Lever Brothers "A" Pref. 20s., and Thwaites 83s. 9d.

In Trading, etc., Shares, Drummond Pref. realised 77s. 6d., and A. Millar and Co. Pref. 75s.

In other business done, Vickers New Ord. quoted 36s. 9d., B. A. Tobacco, 5 9/16; Imperial Tobacco 95s., and Canadian, 27s. 3d. Matterson Debs. marked 44. Mexican Eagle Oils were strong, and rose to 172s. 6d., and later to 175s., while Shells were dealt in at 8 13-32.

LONDON STOCKS QUIET.
BUSINESS ON A NARROW SCALE.
RALLY IN MARCONIS.

Loan influences remained generally operative on the Stock Exchange yesterday, though there was, perhaps, less evidence of sales on behalf of intending subscribers to the National Victory issue. General market business was on a narrow scale, and prices, as a rule, moved with irregularity. Oil Shares again were exceptionally active, and provided many features of buoyancy, and a satisfactory feature was also a moderate rally in the Wireless group. Gilt-edged Securities made a heavy showing during the first part of the session, but they afterwards rallied, and closed with a fairly firm appearance. Consols on balance made good ⅛ of Monday's setback at 52¼, while War Fives, at 93¼, were also ⅛ better. The 4½ per cent. Loan did not vary, but the 3½ per cent. Loan, at 87⅛, lost 1/16. Miscellaneous Gilt-edged Securities, moving with the leaders of the market, finished fairly cheerfully after early irregularity. Indian Government Securities were inclined to go better, though quotations were weaker during the morning. The Colonial list had a good undertone, and Exchequer Bonds were in demand from the Money market.

FOREIGN BONDS UNCERTAIN.—The Foreign market had a quiet and uninteresting session. French Loans were still offered among Allied Securities, but the Fives closed unchanged at 77¾, after being lower. The Fours were back to 62¼. Russians remained limp, but Far Eastern descriptions possessed a good undertone. Peruvians weakened afresh among South Americans, the Preference falling ½ to 31½, though the market has not been seriously disturbed by the revolutionary news. Guatemala Bonds were better at 49 on the dispatch of further funds for the service of the Loan.

Changes.—Falls—Japan New Fives, 1 to 91; Peruvian Pref., ½ to 31½; Russian Fours, 1 to 37½.

RAILS FLAT.—Home Rails were little in evidence, the market being colourless and uninteresting throughout, though the sagging tendency was less noticeable than during recent sessions. North-Westerns, among Trunk and Trade Stocks, registered a further setback to 91¼, but some other Heavy Stocks were a trifle harder, and Midland Deferred, at 56, was finally ¼ better. Passenger issues were quite colourless. Undergrounds enjoyed a fairly hard undertone.

Grand Trunks lacked firmness. Senior Preferences were inclined to heaviness, and the Guaranteed Fours, at 48¼, lost ¼. Canadian Pacifics receded to 172 on easier Wall street advices. Argentine Rails weakened afresh, concluding with falls of ¼ to 1. The market, however, does not appear to be seriously disturbed by the nationalisation talk now circulating.

Changes.—Rises—Midland Def., ¼ to 56; Chesapeake, 4 to 72; Missouri, ¾ to 10½; Southern Common, ¼ to 32¼. Falls—London and N.W., ¼ to 91¼; Underground Inc. Bonds, ¼ to 94¼; Denver, ¼ to 8¼; Erie, 1 to 20; Ontario, 1 to 23; Canadian Pacific, 1 to 172; Grand Trunk Guar., ¼ to 48¼; do. 1st Pref., 1 to 52¼; B.A. Great Southern, ¼ to 67; B.A. and Pacific, 1 to 51; B.A. and Western, 1¼ to 67¼; Central Argentine, ¼ to 55.

INDUSTRIAL SHARES UNCERTAIN.
RISES IN MARCONI GROUP.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

Uncertainty again governed the Industrial market yesterday, and the volume of business underwent some reduction, activity being confined for the most part to recent features. The principal movement was a recovery in Marconis, which received support after their recent depression. Shares proved to be scarce, and the whole of Monday's set-back was picked up. In the Shipping section Cunards and Withys changed hands freely, both being firmer on balance after a dull opening. P. and O. were moderately busy, but closed unaltered. Courtaulds and Listers moved rather erratically. The former closed below the best, and unchanged on the day, whereas the latter were firmer at the end. Maypole's made further progress to the accompaniment of various rumours as to the bonus issue, some suggesting two shares for one, others three for two, though all was guess work in anticipation of the meeting. Smithfields were steady on the meeting, the statements being regarded as satisfactory, and Lyons New Pref. Shares went to a premium on the ... p.c. allotment, but Brands finished easier on profit taking. The Canadian-American group came over slightly lower, but prices on this side were mostly better where alterations occurred. Armaments and kindred Shares remained depressed, declines being fairly numerous, and Insurances had a heavy appearance, several closing lower.

QUIETER DAY IN MINES.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

While a decidedly more cheerful feeling pervaded the Mining market yesterday, it was not translated into actual business. As a matter of fact, dealings were less active than for several days past. In some cases, more especially in Tin Shares, a tendency was noticeable to take advantage of the sustained upward movement, and a few declines occurred in consequence. Several shares in which fairly large transactions were reported closed without alteration, while others received renewed support, and marked further more or less substantial gains. Tin Areas, Nigerian Tin, and Tehidy formed the real features. In West African Gold Shares there was a pronounced demand for Presta Block A on a better appreciation of the latest developments at the mine. A mild surprise was provided by Kaffirs. Those descriptions have remained neglected for some time, and yesterday, when buyers for certain shares made their appearance, little stock was available, and higher prices resulted. The tone at the close was quite good. Outstanding features were Crown Mines and Modder Deep, both being wanted, as the market regarded them as under-valued. Rhodesians were quiet, not to say dull, a condition which was reflected in the final quotations. Chartered were let down rather suddenly in the morning to about 22/6, but subsequent good buying gave them a lift, though it was insufficient to wipe out the whole of the loss. Diamonds continued very strong, there being no cessation of the demand for De Beers. While rather more active, Australians had an irregular appearance. Lake View were again to the front on a further advance in Burmas. A few Copper shares advanced on the improved price of the metal, and Russians had a steadier tone. The Urquhart group issues a summary of recent operations, which, in the circumstances, is not unsatisfactory. The American list showed to better advantage, El Oro and Camp Bird being the favourites.

OIL SHARES LIVELY.
MEXICAN EAGLES THE BEST FEATURE.
WIDE FLUCTUATIONS IN LOBITOS.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

Considerable liveliness was witnessed in the Oil Share market to-day, where business was again on a large scale, accompanied by a good deal of noise. Transactions in the leaders were once more of a good character, with Mexican Eagle the most prominent feature. Shells changed hands freely, and maintained their overnight improvement; and Burmahs were well supported. Lobitos fluctuated widely on the denial at the meeting of the rumours of the negotiations for sale of control to the Shell interests, but the market was not impressed with the denial, and shares offered were promptly absorbed, with the result that a recovery occurred at the close. Kern River continued to receive active attention, and further improved.

RUBBER SHARES FIRMER.—The price of rubber was rather better at 1/9¼ per lb., and in the Share market a distinctly firmer tone prevailed, especially amongst the leaders. Anglo-Dutch hardened to 49/6, and Rubber Trust to 35/3. Bandar Sumatra were lower at 43/9, but Bara Java changed hands up to 41/-. Java United were wanted at 27/9, and K.M.S. were higher at 30/-. Haydella were done at 17/6. Lankat Rubber at 49/3, and Rangoon Para at 16/3 and 16/9. In the Borneo division, Anglo-Java were a little lower at 5/11 ex rights, and Bikam eased to 4/4½, but London Asiatic were better at 10/6 bid. Merbau were taken at 3/11½, and United Serdang were 13/- buyers. Amongst Borneo Shares, a further advance was shown by British North Borneo Option Certificates, with transactions up to 4/-, but with that exception prices kept dull.

THE MONEY MARKET.

Bank Rate (changed April 5th, 1917) ......5 p.c.

Supplies were again very plentiful in the Loan Market, though owing to the final big rush of subscriptions into the new Loan, funds in some directions were reported to be not quite so excessive as recently. The per cent. for call money seldom ranged below 2½ per cent., the posted rate being 2¼ to 2½ per cent. Weekly fixtures were quoted at the previous figure of 2¾ to 3¼ per cent. There was no important displacements in dividend payments, but a call of a quarter of a million on Rowntree Preference matured. The general tendency of the Discount Market remained easy, though takers were less disposed to make concessions in the case of American Bills than of domestic paper. Three months' bills were quoted at 3½ to 3⅝ per cent., and short bills at rather under the figure. Six months' drafts were called 3⅞ per cent.

DIVIDENDS AND REPORTS.

BANK OF IRELAND.—The directors, at their meeting yesterday, recommended that a dividend at the rate of 12 per cent. per annum, less income tax, be declared for the half-year ended 30th June; that £50,000 be added to the "rest"; that £75,000 be appropriated out of the half-year's profits to provide for depreciation in investments; and that about £42,000 be carried forward to the next half-year. The dividend compares with 10 per cent. in July last year, and 12 per cent. in January last, when £100,000 was transferred to the "rest," and £41,347 carried forward.

DUBLIN UNITED TRAMWAYS COMPANY.—The directors, at their meeting yesterday, resolved to declare ad interim dividends for the half-year ending 30th June, 1919, at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum, less income tax, on the Pref. Stock, and at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum, less income tax, on the Ord. Stock of the company; the dividend warrants for same to be sent out on the 2nd August, 1919. This time last year the dividend on the Ord. Shares was at the rate of 4 per cent. per annum.

DUBLIN ARTISANS' DWELLINGS CO.—The usual 5/- per share, free of tax (interim).

LANKAT RUBBER.—Dividend of 15 per cent. for the year ended 31st March.

IMPERIAL COLD STORAGE.—Dividend of 7½ per cent., free of Union dividend tax, for the year.

H. E. RANDELL.—Interim dividend on Ordinary at the rate of 15 per cent. per annum.

PATHINI TEA.—Interim dividend of 5 per cent. on account of season 1919.

BAXTER'S LEATHER.—Interim dividend at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum.

CLYDESDALE TRANSVAAL COLLIERIES.—Dividend of 10 per cent. declared.

EDWARD WOOD.—Dividend of 15 per cent. per annum, less the interim dividend of 5 per cent. already paid.

NATIONAL PROVINCIAL AND UNION BANK OF ENGLAND.—Interim dividend at the rate of 16 per cent. per annum, less tax.

UNION BANK OF AUSTRALIA.—Dividend at the rate of 14 per cent. per annum (equal to £1 15/- per share), free of tax.

LANCASHIRE AND YORKSHIRE BANK.—Interim dividend for past half-year of 16/- per share, less tax.

MARKET REPORTS.

GRAIN.—DUBLIN CORN EXCHANGE, Tuesday.—The attendance of the trade and show of samples on this market continues little better than nominal, and the general position of things [illegible] practically nothing to notice in business or prices. Most of the local [illegible] appears to be [illegible] through the [illegible] difficult to follow, but the extreme pretensions of country sellers is high prohibitive to sales at this end; for choice white oats up to 50/- per barrel, in some cases is asked by them on rail, which here would mean 1/- to 2/- per barrel extra for [illegible]. Black oats are held at [illegible] but [illegible] only [illegible] scarce, and milling qualities readily taken up at maximum prices.

FLOATING GRAIN CARGOES (THE BALTIC), Tuesday.—WHEAT steady; a large quantity of Australian afloat sold to Bristol Channel at 80/- per 480lbs.; all other descriptions quoted 80/- per qr. MAIZE—Argentine and American 66/-, African 65/- per 480lbs. BARLEY—Cargoes nominal, parcels steady; No. 3 Canada Western July-August sellers 73/-, No. 4 [illegible]; American malting 69/9, August-September 70/9, August-September 70/3; 48lbs. July-August 69/6, August-September 70/3, 48lbs. July-August 44/-, 67/6, Canadian feed American feed July-August 44lbs. 67/6. Canadian feed 68/6 per 400lbs. OATS nominal; it is announced that private trading will be permitted under licence on and after Wednesday, 9th inst.

LIVERPOOL, Tuesday.—C.i.f. parcels of wheat were quiet, but maize not offered, though prices unchanged. WHEAT on the spot quoted, but moderately at late rates. MAIZE—Spot parcels scarce and more or less nominal. FLOUR quiet, but imported was released to millers at official prices. BEANS firmer, and China horse dearer. PEAS and OATMEAL showed no material change. OATS firm and unchanged. Mill Offals—Demand in excess of supply. In wheat parcels afloat, River Plate was sold at 80/- per qr. American feed barley, July-August and August-September sold at 67/-, and 67/6 also paid for latter position. American malting, 48lbs., second half July-August realised 69/-, per qr. China horse beans, July-August, quoted £25 10/- to £26 per ton. China white peas, June-July, £24 5/- sellers, with £24 2/6 bidding. The Royal Commission on Wheat Supplies state they have decided to permit private trading in oats under licence on and after to-morrow.

NEWCASTLE, Tuesday.—Very poor market, and little business doing. Wheat was scarce, and the shortage of oats was still pronounced. Beans also advanced in price, and there was no maize offered. English wheat was 70/- to 76/6; foreign wheat, 85/6; maize, 64/- to 65/-; oats, 53/-; barley, 68/- to 70/-; beans, 120/- to 130/- per quarter; G.R. flour, 44/3 per sack.

BASIC SLAG.—Supplies for next season are considerably reduced. Farmers should arrange with their local Merchants at once for whatever they are likely to need. Wholesale price lists sent to Dealers on receipt of trade card.—WM. HOOPER and CO., LTD.—(Advt.)

CATTLE.—BIRMINGHAM, Tuesday.—Trade was good. The supply of pigs was insufficient to meet requirements; control rates prevailed, namely, 21/- per score live weight, and 28/- dead weight.

SALFORD, Tuesday.—Fat cattle consisted of supplies from Wales, made up of fair quality. Sheep and lambs were also Welsh, the former being mostly in poor condition, but the latter were of fair quality. Supplies of pigs at Manchester consisted of 314 Irish, 49 Welsh, and 25 from Cheshire. Quality was good, but the supply was not sufficient for the demand. Numbers in the market—Cattle, 35; sheep and lambs, 762.

CATTLE FEEDING STUFFS.—We can now offer pre-war quality Fattening Cake Nuts, 10 p.c. Oil; also Decorticated Cottonseed Meal, and Palm Kernel Meal. Supplies of Linseed Cake are very limited. Wholesale quotations to Dealers on application.—WILLIAM HOOPER and CO., LTD, 11 Burgh quay, Dublin.—(Advt.)

DERBY, Tuesday.—Smaller supplies of fat stock than last week. Cattle were of fair quality, and sold at the fixed rates, a few beasts being rejected as unfit for slaughter. Sheep and lambs were of good quality. Pelts made from 5/- and lambs skins 6/- each. Not so many calves in the market, and all sold at 1/2 to 1/6 per lb. Numbers in the market—Cattle, 79; sheep and lambs, 360; calves, 20.

PROVISIONS.—DUBLIN POTATO, Tuesday.—A liberal supply of new potatoes came in to-day, and the bulk of offerings were sent on town for disposal, and all appear to have been readily disposed of. Prices were posted at 13/- and 14/- per cwt., and only badly handled stuff failed to maintain these rates. Old potatoes still clearing slowly at previous rates, best qualities anywhere between 8/- and 9/- per cwt., according to character.

LIVERPOOL, Tuesday.—No new feature in the situation for BACON here, the tone being steady all round, the irregular cables from Chicago appearing to have no material effect. Wiltshires and Cumberlands are chiefly inquired for, with other cuts only in moderate request at late rates. Wiltshires quoted 185/- to 186/-, backs 179/- to 182/-, bellies 188/- to 192/-, and Cumberlands 179/- to 181/- per cwt. HAMS in good request for short cut at 188/- to 190/-, though longs move but moderately at 188/- to 192/-. SHOULDERS slow of sale, any business concluded being chiefly confined to squares at 158/- to 162/-, while New Yorks offer at 154/- to 156/-, and picnics 140/- to 142/- per cwt. Canadian bacon firm at 192/- for Wiltshire and 188/- Cumberlands, all box weights. LARD on the spot firm at 185/- for prime steam, and 191/- to 193/- for refined, with a moderate demand experienced. CHEESE in fair demand at 1/3½ per lb. delivered to retailers, while an allocation of 50 per cent. of both imported and British made is announced, and distribution awaited. BUTTER scarce and firm, the usual allotment for next two weeks being anxiously expected. EGGS quiet, demand being curtailed by the high prices, and Irish has now reduced to 39/- to 41/-, with American at 29/- to 30/-, and Canadian 31/- to 32/- per 120.

REFINED LARD "FUTURES," Tuesday.—This market continues firm, with July quoted 192/6 buyers, 193/6 sellers, and September delivery 192/- to 193/- per cwt., but no business done.

JAMES I. HALPIN, Wholesale Bacon Merchant, 18-19 Thomas st., Dublin. Telegrams—"Middles." 'Phones 1716. Specialising in O'Mara's, Ltd., products.—(Advt.)

MANCHESTER, Tuesday.—Market steady. Irish bacon small supply; American Cumberland cut quiet, Wiltshire firm; Canadian scarce. Hams—Short cuts in request; long cuts quiet. Lard steady. Cheese unaltered. Eggs—Good demand, firm; Irish hen selected 41/6 to 42/6, ducks 37/6 to 38/- per 120.

DUBLIN VEGETABLE AND FRUIT, Tuesday.—Supplies of fruit of seasonable variety good, and prices average much as on Friday. Tomatoes are dearer. Rhubarb, for the first time during the past three years, is showing a falling off in demand and values. The last two years a big and dear sale was maintained well into September for rhubarb. Vegetables in abundant supply, and, although easier and irregular in value, are still making satisfactory rates. Black grapes, 3/6 to 4/6 and 5/- per lb.; cherries, 30/- to 32/- per half-bushel, or 1/- to 1/3 and 1/4 per lb.; strawberries, Co. Dublin, loose, 1/6 to 1/8 per lb., firsts, and 1/- to 1/4, seconds; Northern punnets large, 1/3 to 1/7; small, 1/- to 1/3; gooseberries, dessert, 10/- to 13/- per half-bushel; green, 6/- to 7/6 and 9/-; peaches, 5/-, 9/- to 18/-, 24/-, and 30/- per dozen; some specials, 39/- per dozen; raspberries, 1/- to 1/10 per punnet; loganberries, 1/- ditto; currants, red, 6d. to 8d. and 10d. per lb.; black, 10d. to 1/1; white, 6d. and 8d. per lb.; bananas, 60/- to 65/- per crate; Irish tomatoes, 1/- to 1/4 and 1/8 per lb.; foreign, 15/- to 17/- per 12lb.; cucumbers, 2/- to 10/- per dozen; cauliflowers, 3/- to 4/6, 5/-, and 6/- per dozen; mushrooms, 1/8 to 2/6 per basket; rhubarb, 2/- to 4/- and 5/- per dozen bunches; York cabbage, 28/- to 43/- and 60/- per load; peas, 2/6 to 5/- per float, 4/6 to 6/- per half-bushel; marrows, 9d. to 1/4 each; new potatoes, 1/6 to 1/8, and 1/9 per stone; lettuce, 4d. to 8d. and 1/- per dozen; new white turnips, 4d. to 8d. per bundle, extra 1/- to 2/3; old carrots, 1/3 to 2/- per dozen bundles; new ditto, 1/6 to 2/-; Tripoli onions, 4d. to 8d. and 1/- per bundle; scallions 4d. to 6d. and 8d.; parsley, 6d. to 9d. per float; celery, 4d. to 1/- per bunch.

HALSTON STREET POULTRY, Tuesday.—Supplies generally of poultry are fair, but quality variable, and choice table fowl, chickens, and ducks are readily cleared. At the same time the trade lacks the swing and consumptive demand of pre-war times. Ducks are dearer. Prime heavy fowl and chickens much as before, but secondary and lean chickens and tough hens are very irregular in price. Choice chickens, 8/6 to 7/-, and extras 8/-; medium, 3/6 to 4/6; small, etc., 2/- to 3/-; best ordinary hens, 4/6; extra, 7/-; others, 2/- to 3/6 each. Best heavy young ducks, 7/- to 9/-; seconds, 5/- to 6/-; best stores, 3/- to 4/6; old ducks, 2/- to 2/6. Rabbits improved, best, 1/8 to 1/9; graziers, 8d. to 1/8 each; young pigeons, 1/6; queests, 1/- each.

DUBLIN FISH, Tuesday.—Three steam trawls were on market, with an aggregate of just 320 boxes of stuff, in nice, fresh order. Hake only formed a couple of boxes of steamers' deliveries. There were also in 4d packages salmon, 27 chests lobsters, 12 packages herrings, and 65 boxes mackerel. Local herring fishing very disappointing, as recent harsh weather and east winds have driven the fish off the Irish coast. Very little country or local fish offered. Steamers' fish made big money. Salmon, 1/10 to 2/- and 2/2; grilse, 1/6 to 1/8 per lb.; trout, 1/- to 1/6 per lb.; best lobsters, 15/- to 17/6 per 13; seconds, 10/- to 12/6; small and dead, 3/6 to 8/- and 9/- per 13; best soles, 30/- to 40/- per 9 pairs; mediums, 20/- to 30/-; slips, 8/- to 10/- per 9 pairs; large plaice, 4/- to 5/- per 4; others, 3/- to 4/- per 8; half-boxes of plaice, 50/- to 100/-; cod, 60/- to 80/-; haddock, 40/- to 80/-; pollock, 30/- to 50/-; ling, 30/- to 35/-; conger eels, 30/- to 40/-; white soles, 30/- to 60/-; large whiting, 40/- to 60/-; small, etc., 20/- to 30/-; ray, 18/- to 26/-; herrings, 20/- to 25/- per box; mackerel, 10/- to 15/- ditto.

BILLINGSGATE FISH, Tuesday.—Supply liberal; demand good. Salmon, 1/10 to 2/6; grilse, 1/6 to 1/11; salmon trout, 1/3 to 1/10; soles and slips, 1/8 to 1/10; halibut, 1/- to 1/3; lobsters, 2/- to 2/5; turbot, 9d.; brill, 8d.; crabs, 4d. to 10d. per lb.; plaice, 10/- to 14/-; lemon soles, 13/- to 15/-; cod, 4/- to 6/-; mackerel, 5/- to 7/-; whiting, 4/- to 8/-; hake, 11/- to 12/-; haddocks, 6/- to 7/-; gurnet, 4/-; skate, 5/- to 7/-; roker, 8/- to 10/- per stone; fresh water eels, 20/- per draft.

GRIMSBY FISH, Tuesday.—Thirty-two North Sea, one Faroe, and three Iceland boats provided a good supply, the North Sea arrivals averaging 300 each. English cod, 8/- to 10/-; sprags, 6/- to 7/-; dabs scarce, 12/-; best plaice, 12/- to 13/-; small, 10/-; roker, cut cut, 12/6; kit haddocks, 5/- to 7/-; gibbers, 5/6 to 8/-; small, 5/-; turbots, 10/-. Deep sea fish of poor quality—Iceland cod, 5/-; jumbo, 4/6; halibut, 17/-.

LONDON BORO' AND SPITALFIELDS POTATO, Tuesday.—Supplies generally light, with a steady demand. Old sorts range from 3/9 to 8/3; new, English Epicures, 21/- to 22/- per bag; May Queens, 24/- to 25/-; Sharpe's Express, 25/- to 26/-, all per cwt.; new Jerseys, 3d. per lb.

POTATO SPRAYING.—We offer Sulphate of Copper, 98 to 99 p.c. purity, at a reduced price to Dealers. Can give prompt delivery on rails, Dublin.—WILLIAM HOOPER and CO., LTD., 11 Burgh quay, DUBLIN.—(Advt.)

BUTTER AND EGGS.—LITTLE GREEN, Tuesday.—The general position of butter trade remains unaltered from last week, although there is a disposition on the part of creamery producers still to squeeze for more money. The question of moisture in creamery produce remains a sore point, and as previously noted, the trade is pushing the Department of Agriculture to join issue with manufacturers; in the meantime business is cautious, in consequence of the doubtful condition of certain arrivals, but standard dairies of repute clear freely at 2/5 per lb., and for superfine produce 2/5½; secondary descriptions of creams may be quoted anywhere from 265/- to 268/-, and other descriptions from 256/- to 262/-. Farmers' butter was much more plentiful this morning, and fine to superfine cools realised 2/2, to 2/3 per lb., and mild sweet qualities up to 2/3½; other classes from 2/- to 2/2 per lb. With regard to eggs, supplies are still very scant, but enough for the demand, which is being decidedly neutralised for both home and shipping trade by the high quotations recently current. The indications at the moment show a decidedly weak undertone in the value of eggs, and it may be that before Friday we shall have to record a more or less pronounced drop. The uncertainty of getting stuff through from the country to cross Channel is causing an accumulation of stocks, and there are complaints already of an undue proportion of stale and overheld eggs coming in, much to the confusion of business. The run of prices to-day for case hen eggs is from 35/- to 42/- and 45/- per 120. The season for duck eggs is practically done.

CORK BUTTER, Tuesday.—Firsts, 239/-; seconds, 225/-; fresh butter, 241/- per cwt.

PRODUCE.—LONDON, Tuesday.—SUGAR—A good demand continues from manufacturers at full prices. HONEY quietly steady. COFFEE—Spot market ruled firm, with liberal supplies in auction; futures steady, July, also September, quoted 121/-, December 118/6, March, also May, 118/- per cwt. RICE—Market firm, with sustained inquiries, but offers are sparingly made. SPICE—Pepper steady, quiet; fair black Singapore spot 1/0¾; August-October 1/-; Tellicherry spot 1/2; Aleppy 11½d.; Malabar 1/1; Muntok 1/5½; August-October 1/6; Zanzibar Cloves—Spot 1/4. SAGO FLOUR—July-September 36/6, and Japanese Farina spot 51/- per cwt. MENTHOL—Spot 27/-. Japanese Peppermint Oil 6/4; Aniseed 4/10½; and Star Camphor 13/9 per lb. COCOA—Liberal supplies at public sales met with low support, and only a small portion sold at generally late rates; Grenada fair to good 123/6 to 126/-, Jamaica good to fine 122/- to 123/6, Venezuelan fair at 133/- per cwt. JUTE steady but quiet; native first marks July-August and August-September quoted £58 per ton c.i.f. Calcutta Hessians firm, with a good demand. HEMP—Manila fairly steady; J Grade new contract July-September quoted £53, K £53 10/-, L £53. New Zealand high point fair June-August £52 per ton. SHELLAC steady, quiet; fair T.N. spot 387/6; August delivery 390/-, October 395/- per cwt. COPRA firm; sun-dried Straits June-August London quoted £59, Malabar August-October £60 10/-, Ceylon £59 15/-, South Sea £58 10/- per ton. RUBBER market steadier, with a fair inquiry; plantation standard crepe spot sold 1/9¼ to 1/9½, July 1/9½ to 1/10, August 1/10, September 1/10½, October-December 1/11, January-June 2/- to 2/0½; smoked ribbed sheet spot 1/8¾, July 1/8¾; fine hard Para spot sellers 2/5 per lb. TEA—18,000 pkgs. Ceylon in Auction met a fairly good demand at irregular prices; Pekoe 1/0½ to 1/4½; broken orange 1/7½ to 1/11½ per lb. EGG PRODUCTS remain firm. OILS—Linseed firm, and moderately offered; spot naked ex mill 125/-. Rape—Crude spot 107/-, refined 108/-. China wood spot 116/-, to arrive 110/-. Japanese fish spot 72/-. Coconut Cochin afloat 97/6, Ceylon 93/-, Japanese 93/-. Palm Oil—Lotts to arrive 84/-, Lagos 85/-. Castor and Soya unaltered. Turpentine steadier; American spot 87/-, September-December 88/-, January-April 89/6. Petroleum American spot 1/4¾, water white 1/5¼ gallon. Cottonseed quiet; Sakellarides oil crop quoted £32, and Bombay parcels July-September Hull sellers £30 per ton.

LIVERPOOL AGRICULTURAL PRODUCE, Tuesday.—A fair supply of green vegetables was in evidence in to-day's market, but demand was considerably smaller. New potatoes, 5/- to 5/6 per 21lb.; Ensure 22/-, Jersey 24/-, Ninetyfold 18/- and 20/-; carrots, 2/6 per cwt.; cabbages 2/- and 2/9, cauliflowers 6/- and 8/-; London lettuce 2/- to 2/6, cucumbers 8/- and 9/- per doz.; turnips, 2/- and 2/3; parsley, 4/- per doz. bunches; peas 16/- and 17/- per hamper.

CLYDE CRUSHED SUGAR, Tuesday.—The market continues steady.

MISCELLANEOUS. — LIVERPOOL COTTON (Second Report), Tuesday.—American slow of sale; quotations advanced 12 points. Brazilian quotations are raised 12 points. East Indian unchanged. Egyptian is dull. Sales, 2,000 bales; imports, 20,687.

LIVERPOOL COTTON (Closing), Tuesday.—Sales 2,000 bales, imports 20,687 bales. American is slow of sale; quotations are advanced 12 points. Brazilian quotations are raised 12 points. East Indian unchanged; Egyptian is dull. July 20.45d., August 20.37d., September 20.32d., October 20.24d., January 20.01d., March 19.86d. Market is steady.

HAY AND STRAW.—SMITHFIELD, Tuesday.—There was a tolerably large supply of hay brought on market here to-day, mostly new season's cutting, and generally of good class and well saved. Market opened around 8/9 and 9/- per cwt. for choice strong new hay, but afterwards became easier, and closed decidedly down at 8/- to 8/6 per cwt. for similar descriptions of stuff. Soft and green hay, 6/- to 7/6. Choice strong old hay scarce, and made 11/- to 11/6 and 12/- per cwt. Best old meadow, 8/- to 9/0 per cwt.; other sorts, 6/- to 7/6 per cwt. Straw market was unusually small, and sold up quickly. Wheaten straw around 4/- per cwt.; oaten, 4/9, but for several loads 5/0 and even 6/- per cwt. was spoken as having been paid.

LONDON, Tuesday.—Fair supply passed off steady at full Government limits, according to grade.

"RISING SUN" BINDER TWINE is guaranteed full strength and full length. Lots of 3 cwt. sent carriage paid to any Railway Station.—WILLIAM HOOPER and CO., LTD., Wholesale Agents, 11 Burgh quay, Dublin.—(Advt.)

TRADE REPORT.—MANCHESTER, Tuesday.—The position increases in difficulty, and at the moment it is practically impossible to get business of any kind through. Cloth inquiries from overseas outlets are very numerous, but manufacturers whose machinery is stopped naturally decline to quote, and there is scarcely more willingness on the part of those outside the Federation. Yarn business is also to a large degree suspended, and where any small lots change hands it is at very firm rates.

LONDON METALS MARKET.

TIN easier on realisations, with no pressure to sell, cash being 20/-, and forward 15/- lower since last Monday's close. Cash £247 to £247 10/-, three months £244 to £244 15/-, settlement price £247. Sales 350 tons: cash from £249 to £247 10/-, and three months £246, £245 10/-, to £246 10/-, relapsing to £244 15/-. COPPER in continued demand, while cash and forward show an advance of 20/-, cash £95 to £95 5/-, three months £96 to £96 5/-; settlement price £96, 1,450 tons sold, mostly three months, at £96, £96 10/-, £95 15/- to £96. LEAD rather better; foreign £23 to £23 2/6. SPELTER £40 5/- to £40 12/6 per ton.

THE RENTAL AND PARTICULARS OF SALE ARE BEING PRINTED, AND WILL BE SHORTLY PUBLISHED, WHEN THEY CAN BE OBTAINED FROM THE AUCTIONEERS; FROM ARTHUR HAMILTON, Esq., J.P., 14 LOWER DOMINICK ST., DUBLIN; AND FROM BARRINGTON & SON, Solicitors for Vendors, having Carriage of Sale, No. 10 Ely Place, Dublin

CO. WESTMEATH—CLONYN ESTATE.

TO BE SOLD BY INSTRUCTIONS OF THE TRUSTEES OF THE HONBLE. P. E. J. GREVILLE NUGENT.

VALUABLE RESIDENTIAL ESTATE, COMPRISING TOWNLANDS OF CLONYN, PRINTISTOWN, AND MOORETOWN, CONTAINING 1,129 ACRES 1 ROOD 28 PERCHES, CHIEFLY GRASS LANDS, WELL FENCED, DRAINED, AND WATERED.

ALL HELD IN FEE-SIMPLE.

ALSO THE LANDS OF BILLISTOWN, ADJOINING, CONTAINING 224 ACRES 0 ROODS 6 PERCHES.

HELD FOR THREE LIVES AND SIXTY-ONE YEARS, SUBJECT TO £345 12/6 PER ANNUM; WILL BE SOLD SEPARATELY.

CLONYN ESTATE, the residence of the first Lord Greville, is situated in Co. Westmeath, between Mullingar and Athboy (Co. Meath), being within 12 miles of Mullingar and 8 of Athboy Railway Stations, and about 40 miles from the City of Dublin.

THE VILLAGE OF DELVIN, in which there are Protestant and Catholic churches and post-office, adjoins the estate.

THE CASTLE WAS BUILT IN 1874, at a cost of upwards of thirty thousand pounds. It is built of lime-stone, and is an imposing structure, occupying a most desirable position. It contains square centre hall, with galleries, supported by handsome pillars; 4 reception rooms, 10 principal bedrooms, approached by grand staircase; 11 smaller bedrooms, servants' rooms, kitchen, etc. The Castle is heated by hot water pipes. An expenditure would be required to fit it for occupation.

THE OFFICES are distant about 500 yards from the residence, and are suited to requirements of land. A large roofed riding school is attached.

Fruit and Vegetable Gardens, with Vinery, Conservatory, Peach House, Gardener's House, etc.

THE LANDS, COMPRISING 1,129 ACRES, STATUTE MEASURE, ARE HELD IN FEE-SIMPLE. THEY ARE GOOD, SOUND GRASS LANDS, WELL TIMBERED AND WATERED. THEY LIE COMPACTLY TOGETHER, ARE ALL IN HAND, AND PURCHASER WILL BE GIVEN POSSESSION OF THE ENTIRE, SUBJECT TO GRAZING LETTINGS.

There are three Gate Lodges and Keeper's House.

THE ESTATE is admirably suited for Horse and Cattle Breeding. The timber is valuable. Portion, carefully marked by a landscape gardener, has been Sold, and partly cut. Purchaser will Buy subject to this contract.

THE LANDS OF BILLISTOWN, containing 224 acres, will be Sold separately. They are held under lease, dated 5th August, 1857, having about 38 years unexpired, at a rent of £345 12/6. The purchaser of Billistown would acquire important rights under the Land Acts and Land Purchase Acts.

For full particulars and Conditions of Sale apply to Messrs. WHITNEY, MOORE, and KELLER, Solicitors having Carriage of Sale, 46 Kildare street.

TRUSTEES OF THE LATE GEORGE WILKINSON, Esq.

TEMPLE HILL, KILLINEY, CO. DUBLIN.

ONE OF THE MOST DESIRABLE RESIDENCES IN THIS UNRIVALLED MARINE RESIDENTIAL POSITION, WITH POSSESSION TO PURCHASER.

Standing detached upon about 4 acres of ground, enviably situated, commanding uninterrupted views of Bray Head and Shanganagh Valley; convenient to Railway Station, grounds sloping to seashore. Position leaves nothing to be desired.

ACCOMMODATION comprises square entrance hall, drawing and diningrooms overlooking sea, study, 5 family bedrooms, bathroom, hot and cold water, kitchen, servants' rooms, pantry, etc. Gas and Vartry water throughout. Also coach-house, stabling, and garage in enclosed yard.

The GROUNDS are well sheltered by old timber, and ornamented by flowering shrubs. There is a handsome, solidly-built tea house, enjoying unrivalled views; also greenhouse, tennis court, etc. There is access to the Strand from grounds by private bridge over railway. Sea bathing and boating can be enjoyed.

The entire is held for 450 years, subject to £43 17/6 per annum. Possession to purchaser.

ARDKILL, KILLINEY.

Standing detached upon about half an acre of ground, occupying a high and healthful position. Held for 497 years from 24th December, 1858, subject to a ground rent of £8 per annum, and sub-leased on repairing lease for 5 years, from 25th December, 1918, at £60 per annum, tenant paying taxes. A well-built, compact Residence, without basement, containing 3 reception and 5 bedrooms, bathroom, hot and cold water; kitchen, pantries, etc.; good stabling; fruit and flower garden, etc.

COUNTY WESTMEATH. FOR SALE.

THE COOLURE ESTATE,

Extending to about 1,176 ACRES.

THIS very attractive and profitable Freehold Residential Estate is situated on the North shore of LOUGH DEREVARAGH, within five miles of Float Station, on the Midland Great Western Railway; 15 miles from MULLINGAR and 52 miles from DUBLIN.

The Mansion House, in well-timbered grounds, approached by two avenues, with gate lodges, contains good entrance hall, 5 reception rooms, 13 bedrooms, bathroom, 2 servants' rooms, and complete domestic offices.

The Farm Buildings are substantial, well arranged and most complete, and the best on any estate of the same size in Ireland. They comprise stabling for 20 horses, motor garage, forge, workshop, gas engine, gasometer, sawmill, cattle sheds, hay barns, corn lofts, etc.

There are two tennis courts, well-stocked walled garden, and two boat houses, with piers, on the lake. LOUGH DEREVARAGH is famous for its trout fishing, which is free to riparian owners.

There is also rough shooting on the property and good hunting with the Meath and Westmeath Foxhounds.
